FOR

EVA MARJORIE ALEXANDER

"Marge" "Midget"

Coolidge School

Marge is one of the shortie members of our class; but dynamite comes in small packages. One of her favorite pastimes is roller skating. Marge hopes to get married soon, and we all wish her the best of everything in life.

PATRICIA R. ALDRICH-AMES

"Pat" "Patrick"

Coolidge School. Freshman Girls' Club; Girls' Club 3, 4; Rifle Club 4.

Tlat, tlat, tlat! Yes, lively lass who just cantered by is Pat. And she's just as full of fun whether roller-skating, bowling, or playing basketball. Her congenial nature and infectious laugh make Pat a favorite among her friends. After graduation she plans to attend the Massachusetts Agricultural School.

DESPIN ANGELOPULOS

"Des" "Dessie" "Tessie"

Coolidge School. Freshman Girls' Club; Junior Red Cross 2, 3.

Des is a girl with an outstanding personality which has won her many friends. Dessie's favorite pastime is dancing, an art in which she excels. Tessie plans to be a fashion designer after graduation. We wish Des success in whatever she does.

MARION LORRAINE AYER

"Blondie"

Roosevelt School. Freshman Girls' Club; Cloak and Plume 1; Girls' Club 3, 4.

Marion entered the portals of good old M. H. S. in the fall of '42; many times her name has appeared on the schools' Honor Roll. She enjoys reading and dancing. We feel sure that her employer, whoever he may be, will certainly find in Marion a faithful secretary and bookkeeper.

ALMA ELAINE BALDWIN

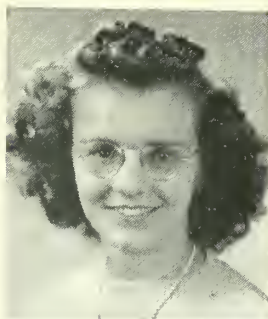

"Al"

Bangor Junior High, Maine. Girls' Club 3, 4.

One of the quieter members of our class, Al is a true friend to all who know her. Always light-hearted and cheerful, she should be a wonderful nurse. Good luck to you in the future, Al.

"Such a comrade, such a friend,

With thee I'd walk to our journey's end."

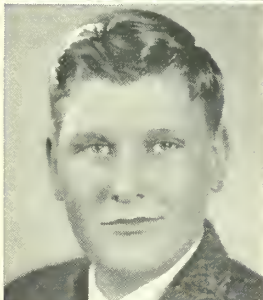

THE

ELEANOR BALL
"El" "Shorty" "Elly"

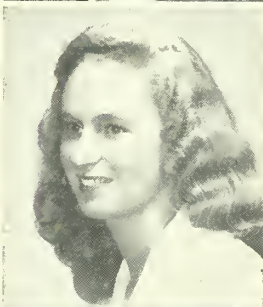

Lincoln School. Field Hockey 2; Junior Red Cross 2, 3, 4.

El is a girl who always has a pleasant smile. She is liked by everyone. She has succeeded in winning the friendship and admiration of all her teachers. With Shorty's winning personality, she surely will succeed in anything she attempts in life. Best of Luck, Shorty.

HERBERT BARBOUR
"Herb" "Red"
Roosevelt School

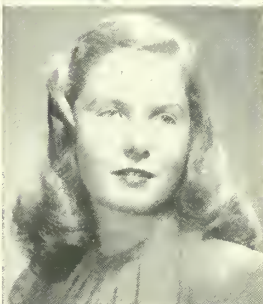

Herb Barbour is perhaps one of the best students in the senior class. He is always smiling and spreading some of his good will through an otherwise dull period of English, that is, dull for everyone but him. Herb's red hair gives him the familiar name of Red. So, Red, take with you from M. H. S. our best wishes for happiness in the years to come.

DOROTHY ALICE BARBER
"Dot" "Dottie"

Coolidge School. Freshman Outing Club; Girls' Club; Girls' Hockey; Stamp Representative.

Dottie has gained popularity because of her friendly attitude toward everyone. We all love to tease her about her blushing. Studying in M. H. S. for four years has made Dottie realize she would like to go in the field of science.

NANCY ANN BATEMEN
"Nance" "Peanut"

Coolidge School. Freshman Girls' Club; Current Events Club 3, 4; Girls' Club 3, 4; Literary Staff of Log.

Ahoy for Franconia and the ski-country is Nancy's main thought during winter months. Hear that $64.00 word? She is also our literary expert. Her favorites range from Lily Pons to Buddy Welcome. Frequently the color of tomato, Nancy combines fastidiousness, originality, and a keen sense of humor to make a delightfully interesting person. Best of luck at Bouve.

CAROLYN E. BEARD
"Cal" "Whiskers"

Coolidge School. Freshman Girls' Club; Cloak and Plume; Girls' Club 3, 4; Senior Speakers' Bureau 4.

We all know the tall blond with the upturned nose and radiant smile who answers to Cal. Her outstanding qualities are serenity, friendliness, and dependability. Although her interests are varied, music, basketball, tennis, and softball head the list.

CARL BEHRLE

"Hank" "Zoot"

Coolidge School. Rifle Club 1, 2, 3, 4, Treasurer 3, President 4.

If ever you see anyone with jazz records piled high around him, without a doubt it's Carl Behrle. This character is lost without his hot jazz records. When he hasn't a record in his hand, he has a rifle or a basketball.

HELEN BENNER

Lincoln School. Brush and Pallet 4; Girls' Club 3, 4.

A girl with a pleasantly different personality--that's Helen Benner. She came to us from Somerville in 1938 and since that time has made many friends. She has been especially active with her art work; her cartoons are her trade mark. We hope that success will follow her always.

BEVERLIE EVANS BENSON

"Bev" "Beveo"

Coolidge School. Freshman Girls' Club; Cloak and Plume, Treasurer; Class Secretary 2; Student Council 2; Masque and Wig 2, Vice President 3, 4; Annual Proclamation 2, 3, 4; Junior Prom Committee; War Stamp Council 2, 3, 4, Chairman 4; Girls' Club 3, 4, Chairman of Welfare Committee 4; Varsity Basketball 3, 4; D. A. R. Representative 1946.

Bev's graciousness and warm interest in her friends combined with her sense of humor have made her one of our favorites. She is talented in dramatics and art and has taken a prominent part in the Masque and Wig.

JANICE EVELYN BERRETT

"Jan"

Roosevelt School. Freshman Girls' Club; Girls' Club 3, 4.

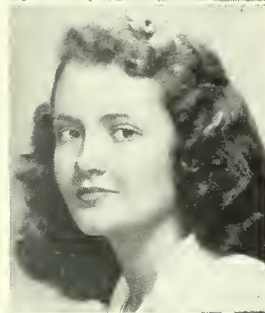

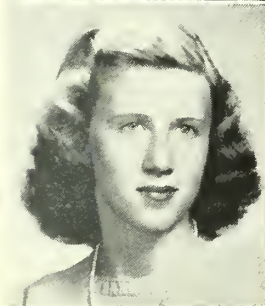

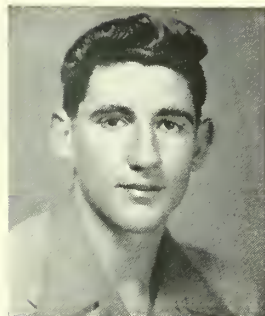

Although Janice is a bit shy, she is jolly and a grand sport, which facts make her an enjoyable companion among her many friends. We love to make her blush! To make someone a very capable secretary, she plans to continue her education at Bryant and Stratton.

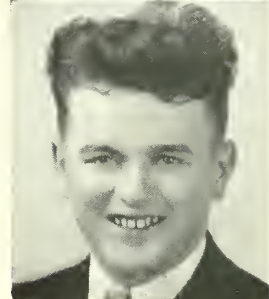

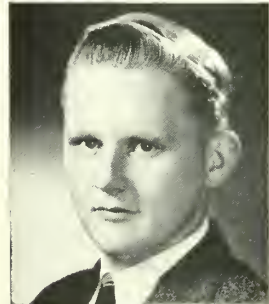

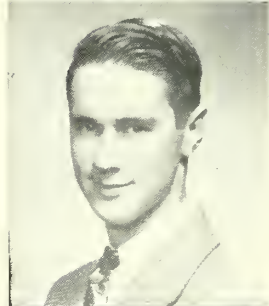

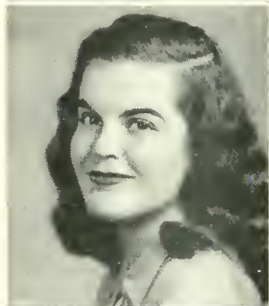

BARBARA LOUISE BISHOP

"Barb" "Bish"

Lincoln School. Freshman Girls' Club; Outing Club 1; Red Cross Club, Secretary 2;; Brush and Palette 3; Masque and Wig 3, 4; Corresponding Secretary 4; Varsity Field Hockey 3; Cheerleader 4; Girls' Club 3, 4; Social Chairman 4.

An effervescent manner coupled with just the right amount of poise and charm give Barb that distinctive individuality. This miss figure 8's in the winter, and during her spare time, her artistic talent is put to use.

NANCY ANNE BISSELL

"Biss" "Nance"

Coolidge School. Freshman Girls' Club; Imprint 1, 2, 3; Basketball 4, Manager; Field Hockey 3, 4, Manager; Girls' Club 3, 4; Log Committee 4.

Petite, vivacious, fastidious, Nancy has made herself well-known through her excellent artistic abilities. Outside her school activities Biss is very fond of ice-skating and horseback riding, and she excels in both of these sports.

VIRGINIA BOWMAN

"Ginny" "Bow"

Coolidge School. Cloak and Plume; Freshman Girls' Club; Masque and Wig 2, 3; Cheerleader 3, 4; Girls' Club 3

A genial smile, hearty laughter, and a yen for adventure are the characteristics of this petite Miss whose copious vitality makes us envious. One of Ginny's most valuable assets is her ability to make friends.

MILTON L. BOYLE, JR.

"Sonny" "Fingers" "Milt"

Roosevelt School. Cloak and Plume 1; Masque and Wig 2, 3, 4; War Stamp Council 3, 4; Baseball 3, 4; Basketball 2, 3, 4.

A friendly smile, a blush of bashfulness, athletic interests and abilities, and love of a good joke—that's Milt. This future Harvard medical student is on the ball all the way.

ROGER G. BRAND

"Rog"

Lincoln School. War Stamp Council 2, 3, 4; Cross Country 4.

If you were looking for Rog and couldn't find him, you should have looked in the Teacher's Lunch Room and you would probably have found him counting money and stamps. When not in school he can usually be found in Andrew's Market. Rog is a great hockey fan and also, enjoys many other sports.

MILTON R. BRENNAN

"Brennan" "Curly" "M. B." "Milt"

Coolidge School.

Milton's wooly hair and bass voice booming through the corridors have made him prominent ever since he entered Melrose High. He has distinguished himself as a cashier at the First National, where he has worked for four years. Milton's spare time is spent largely in swimming, playing tennis, bicycling and hitch-hiking.

CHESTER ALBERT BRIGHAM

"Chet"

Roosevelt School. Rifle Club 1; Imprint 3, Circulation Manager 4; Current Events Club 4.

Chet is a conscientious, persevering worker in all his activities. He plans to enter the field of writing. As his first step toward this ambition, Chet hopes to go to Colby. He has all our good wishes for the future, and some day we shall probably read or hear of Chet in the literary field.

WILLIAM H. BROCK

"Bill"

Holton High School, Danvers

Bill came to M. H. S. in his senior year. He likes all sports; winter sports, however, are his favorites. Besides being a better than average skier and skater, he is a wizard on the piano. Bill likes all music, but prefers hot jazz. He plans to continue his schooling.

CAROL BROWN

"Brownie"

Roosevelt School. Freshman Girls' Club; Brush and Palette 4; Girls' Basketball 4.

Carol's artistic ability is known from Melrose to Saint John, Canada, where Brownie spends her summers. During the winter when Carol is not using her time to make shell jewelry, she is busy designing and making her own clothes. In the future Carol intends to further develop her talent in the field of art.

RICHARD BROWN

"Dick" "Brownie"

Lincoln School. Orchestra 1, 2, 4.

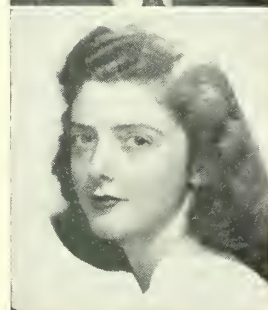

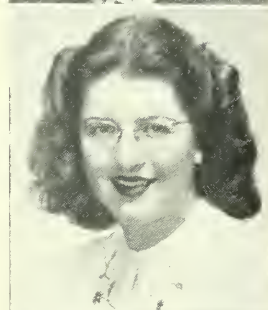

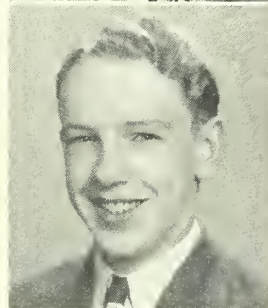

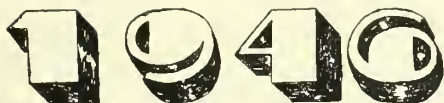

Dick is a fellow who likes to talk, and during class he tries to compete with the teacher. He always has a few words which set the class laughing. Dick will probably become serious when he leaves M. H. S. to buckle down to a musical career. So, Dick, we hope for your success in your future years in music.

RUTH BULPETT

"Ruthie" "Carrot Top" "Rudy"

Roosevelt School. Freshman Girls' Club; Outing Club 1; Girls' Club 3, 4; Rifle Club 4; Basketball 4.

Full of fun, but entering into it with smiling dignity, Ruthie wins admiration by being completely herself. As one of the Career Kids in the secretarial course, she proved to be a natural. She enjoys summer as well as winter sports and excels in swimming, aquaplaning and riding on top of the rumble seat in The Jitterbug.

FRANCES MARY BUNKER

"Billie"

Coolidge School. Freshman Girls' Club; Girls' Club 3, 4; Red Cross and War Stamp Representative.

Her stunning titian hair has always attracted the attention of her fellow classmates. Everyone knows Billie with her smiling eyes and friendly "Hi". After graduation she plans to go into secretarial work.

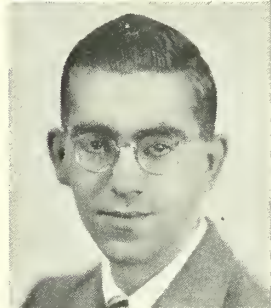

ROBERT BUNKER

"Bob" "Bunk" "Bungie"

Coolidge School.

Bob's clever wit has amused his classmates and won him many friends. Being mechanically minded, Bob may often be found tinkering with cars and motorcycles outside school.

ARTHUR J. BURKE

"Bud"

St. Mary's

Besides his school activities, Bud has been the guiding light of the Melrose Canteen which has done such splendid work these past three years. He wants to be an engineer, and we sincerely hope he realizes his fondest ambitions.

GLORIA B. BURKE

"Glory-be" "G. B." "Burkie"

Malden High School. Girls' Club 4.

Gloria is that vivacious miss who was responsible for Malden's loss and our gain. Burkie's helping hand has been extended to all, and her willingness to help makes us think that her rule for life must be, "A friend in need is a friend indeed." Gloria's neatness will be an asset to any office.

ELSIE PEARL BURNELL

"El" "Burnie"

Girls' Club 3, 4.

El, our pretty blue-eyed gal, with her pleasant, tactful ways, is such a person as the part describes.--

"She attracts hearts by the quality she displays; she retains them by the quality she possesses."

Ambition Florist.

FOR

WILFRED F. BURR

"Will" "Wilbur"

Calvin Coolidge School. Track 1, 2; Rifle Club 1, 4; Current Events 3, 4.

Will is probably best known by his fellow students for his ready wit and constant smile. In his unique choice of ties and headgear he is constantly setting new styles among the male element at M. H. S. His chief hobby and prize possession is his Model A.

JOHN BUXTON

"Buck"

Coolidge School

John for the past six years has lived in Melrose. He came originally from New Hampshire. Although John did not go out for any sports, he likes good games of hockey and football. He plans to go to radio school after serving in the army. I know we wish him the best of luck in years to come.

DOROTHY CAINES

"Dottie" "Jinx"

Squint came to Melrose High at the beginning of his Sophomore year from Malden Catholic High School. Since then he has made many friends with his superior sense of humor and colorful disposition. Larry's interest in current events and politics will make him an excellent citizen when he graduates.

Broad-minded, animated, refined, breezy, athletic, reliable, aspiring--that's Barbara. Unknown to many, much of her spare time is spent playing the piano.

MARILYN CLARK

"Mal" "Clarkie" "Lynn"

Roosevelt School. Freshman Girls' Club 1; Cloak and Plume 1;

Masque and Wig 2; Outing Club 1; Girls' Club 3, 4.

A drop in on Mal will probably find her head deeply imbedded in that current magazine. But her quiet, pensive outward appearance deceives many who don't search out the real Mal. The twinkle in her eyes is the first outward indication of her real self.

JEANNE E. CLARKE

"Clarkie" "Jeannie"

Roosevelt School. Junior Red Cross 1; Basketball 3, 4; Girls' Club 3, 4.

Here's a happy miss with a smile for everyone and a hearty interest in sports, her favorite being basketball. She also possesses an interest in art and hopes to become a model after leaving school. There is no denying Jeanne ought to succeed in a career as she does in almost everything else.

ROBERT F. COLLINS

"Bob"

Roosevelt School. Football 2.

Bob is an ardent swing fan and has no small ability as a drummer. Although Bob not an active participant in school activities, he was a faithful follower of all sports events. Most of his spare time was spent at the "Y". Bob's plans for the future are rather vague, but he expects to enter the service after graduation. We wish Bob all the success and happiness in the world.

Here's the girl with all the talents! She plays a tantalizing accordion, wields a mean drum stick, makes a piano talk, and draws beautifully. She has many interests, and we may look on her as the true instigator of the Girls' Rifle Club.

ROGAN H. DAMON, JR.

"Buck"

Coolidge School. Band 1, 2, 3, 4; Orchestra 1, 2, 3, 4; Rifle Club 1, 2, 3, 4, Treasurer 4.

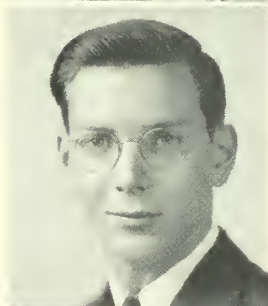

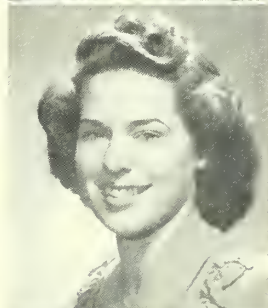

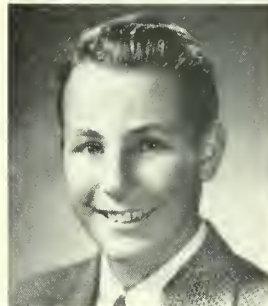

Besides his flute playing and drumming, Roger is an ardent collector of swing records. Model railroading and skiing also help to keep him out of mischief.

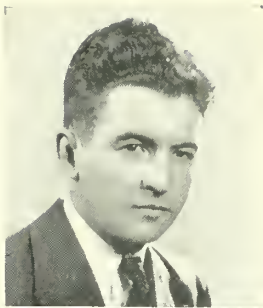

THELMA GRACE DAMON

"Tommy" "Thel"

Calvin Coolidge School. Freshman Girls' Club; Girls' Club 3.

Thelma is shy but friendly, fun-loving, and happy go lucky. To all her friends she is known as Tommy. Her favorite pastimes are dancing, skating, swimming, and playing her guitar. Tommy's plans for the future are as yet undecided; but whatever she does, we wish her success.

ROBERT B. DOANE

"Bob" "Robie"

Roosevelt School.

That tall, well-mannered young man, often seen entering the radio class, is Bob. His favorite subject is radio, with physics and math close seconds. In spite of his quiet and studious appearance, he will try anything once. He hopes to study radio, especially Radar and at college after graduation from M. H. S.

RUTH DOGGETT

"Ruthie" "Doggie"

Lincoln School. Freshman Girls' Club 3, 4; Junior Speakers' Bureau 2; Field Hockey 2, 3, 4.

ROBERT F. DRISCOLL

"Bob" "Joe" "Charlie"

Coolidge School.

You can always spot Bob at the arena whether it's a wrestling or boxing night. Hardly a match or bout goes by that he isn't present. Besides this, he always finds time for music, hot or sweet. After graduation he's a sure "Joe the sailor" for the Navy.

ROBERT GORDON DUKE

"Bob" "Dukie" "Spider"

Coolidge School. Cloak and Plume 1; Masque and Wig 2, 3, 4.

Here is a colorful lad--good natured, and with a pleasing smile. Bob has won many friends among his classmates, and one constantly hears "Hi Dukie" from the fairer sex. His favorite hang-out is the Baptist Church, where he is very active. College is Bob's goal, and we wish him success.

DORIS E. ESKILDSON

"Doree" "Lockinvar"

Lincoln School. Freshman Girls' Club; Girls' Club 3, 4; Junior Speakers' Bureau 3.

What a sense of humor! Doree's ingenious ideas and original verses flash like neon lights. Her charming wit and bright smile have made her many steadfast friends. She likes most sports, especially trying some new dive or stroke in her favorite lake in New Hampshire.

VIRGINIA L. ESTY

"Ginny"

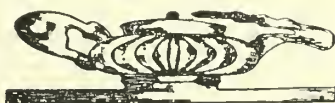

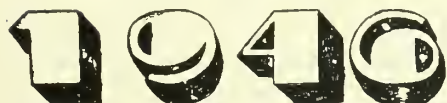

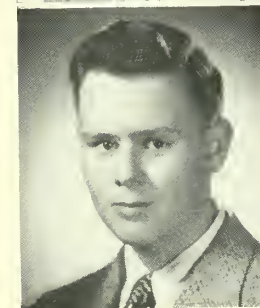

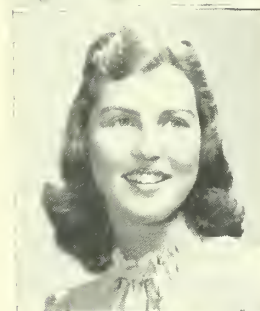

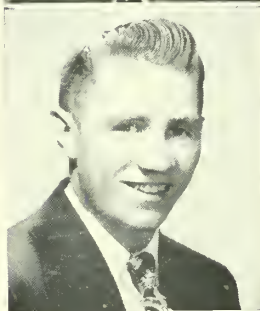

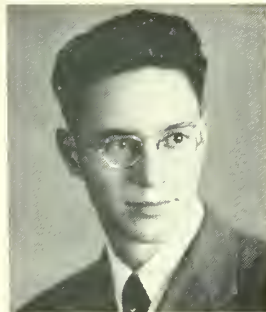

Coolidge School. Freshman Girls' Club, Secretary; Girls' Club 3, 4, Secretary, 4.

Ginny has a cheery word for everyone and a hearty giggle that explodes at the crack of a quip. There is gaiety in the swing of her walk and friendly fun in the twinkle of her eye. Some of that pep and energy may be due to the special ingredients in those fantastic salads she concocts, or perhaps her secret is a lifelong abstinence from peppermint.

Student Council

The Student Council, composed of the twelve class officers and two other students elected from each class, brings student views before Mr. Wilder and Mr. Dixon, who represent the faculty. They, in turn, explain the point of view of the school administration on topics of discussion. Many times committees are chosen in order to fully enlighten the Council on the various controversial subjects.

The Council can look with pride on their accomplishments of the past year. Upon Mr. Wilder's suggestion, they initiated the Melrose High School Honor Society. This will be a group composed of the students who have gained a position on the school honor roll. The Council has also co-operated with Mr. Dixon and the assembly committee by giving them assistance in selecting assembly programs desirable to the students.

These accomplishments are representative of the Council's work throughout the year, and the students are grateful to have such a group speaking for them.

Hi-Y

President	William Woodward
Vice-President	Peter Sherman
Treasurer	James White
Secretary	Norman Guild

Hi-Y completed another successful season under the capable leadership of "Mac", with the class of '46 bidding "adieu" to M. H. S.

Many new members were inducted this year, and the enthusiasm displayed by these guarantees the success of next year's club.

The program committee did a great job of planning many good programs. Highlights among these were several sports nights, Mr. Kenneth Shennan's talk on his experiences in the South Pacific, District Attorney Thompson of Middlesex County, and the annual Hi-Y banquet.

Fully assured that next year's club will attain the success that '46's did, underclassmen are already planning next year's activities.

Masque and Wig

President	Alan Cutlbertson
Vice-President	Beverlie Benson
Recording Secretary	Sally Sprague
Corresponding Secretary .	Barbara Bishop
Treasurer	Frank Dickinson
Assistant Treasurer	Kenneth Proctor

Under the able direction of Miss Tiews and Mr. Carney, the Masque and Wig Society has passed a very successful and enjoyable year. With the exception of a few speakers, the entertainment at the semi-monthly meetings was furnished by the club members themselves. The Society undertook only one very important project, the annual spring play, "I Have Five Daughters", an adaptation of Jane Austin's famous noval, "Pride and Prejudice."

Senior Speakers' Bureau

The Senior Speakers' Bureau, composed of six seniors and fifteen juniors, has had a very successful year. Under the patient and skillful direction of Miss McNamara, the members have acquired poise and ability in making effective and interesting introductions of speakers to our large assembly audiences. A special opportunity to present guest speakers was afforded our members on the evening of March 4, when they assumed complete responsibility for presiding at the sixteen conference groups, arranged for students and parents by the vocational guidance directors of our school. The experience gained in public speaking this year will unquestionably be of great value to all members of Speakers' Bureau in years to come.

Imprint

The year of 1945-46 has brought more student participation to the Imprint. All assignments and the actual writing and editing of the articles has been done exclusively by the students.

More diversified features have been one of the outstanding improvements of the paper. "Swingology" has taken an entirely new slant; and the introduction of a number of brain-teasing quizzes has added more pep and variety. The editorials have taken a definite student point of view and have avoided preaching.

This year, more of the lower classmen have been invited to participate in the Imprint's publication, while many non-members have contributed generously in the way of various types of features.

Current Events

President	Lawrenene Claflin
Vice President	Chester Brigham
Secretary	Betsy Ann Snow
Treasurer	James White
Faculty Advisor	A. Imrie Dixon

The Current Events Club was formed in the fall of 1946 as a result of popular demand on the part of students who desired a club in which there might be some adequate expression of opinion and discussion concerning the interesting and perplexing problems of our present times. As a result of the assistance on the part of the Parent Teacher Association, the club has been able to affiliate with the Foreign Policy Association and thereby take advantage of the excellent research material on foreign affairs made available through that source. Meeting twice a month the club has held debates, panel discussions, sponsored moving pictures on the History of World War II, and presented a forum discussion in the assembly. Fundamental in its objectives is the purpose to advance "citizenship in school and community". The club is open to sophomores, Juniors, and Seniors upon application.

Victory Stamp Council

Chairman Beverly Benson
Faculty Advisors Miss Hickey, Mr. Wilson
Staff Allen Mapes, Roger Brand, Philip Whitman, Janice MacLachlan, Jean Barr, Jeanette Hook, Janice Kezar, Barbara Fleet, Joan Rolf, Sally Quincy, Barbara Lowery, Milton Boyle.

To conclude the excellent work done by the War Stamp Council in the past three years, this year's Victory Council sponsored a drive for two hospital beds, with full equipment, which extended through December and resulted in $4,800. Throughout the remaining months of the school season, the council sold bonds and stamps once a week to those wishing to purchase them.

Junior Red Cross

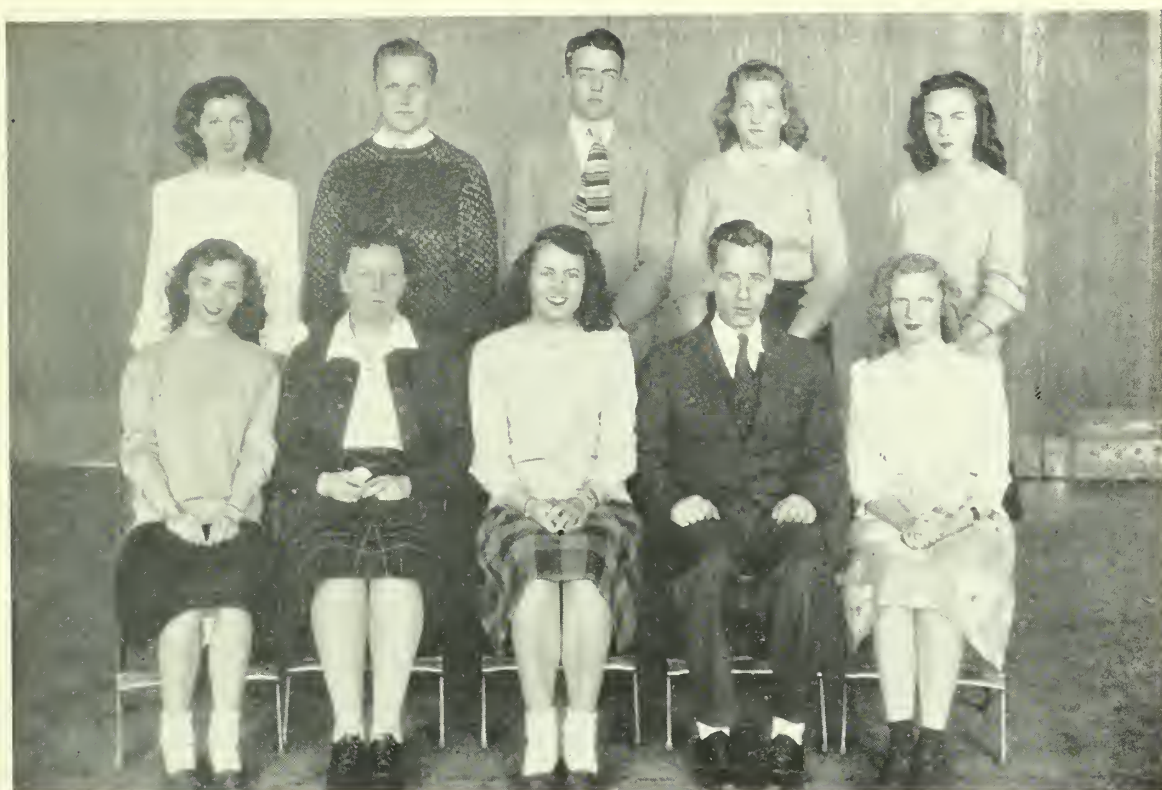

President Marilyn Gallagher
Vice-President Barbara Mellin
Secretary Beverly Lord
Treasurer Eleanor Ball
Sponsor Miss Sachs

The Junior Red Cross reached 100% in its annual school membership drive in the fall.

Eight cartons of toys were collected and sent to the Caney Creek children. In addition, Christmas boxes of cards, ash-tray, etc. were sent to Chelsea Naval Hospital.

During the year several cartons of books were donated to the veterans' hospitals.

In April, our annual dance was held, and later in the spring our activities for the year will be completed by finishing afghans for the veterans' hospitals.

Boys' Rifle Club

President	Carl Behrle
Vice-Presidents	Peter Sherman
	Bradford Benson
Secretary	William Hanes
Treasurer	Roger Damon
Range Officer	Chester Darling
Instructor	Mr. Eric W. Mansur

This year the Boy's Rifle Club was made up principally of sophomores. Next year we should have a capable and experienced team with great possibilities. The team has ranked high in the National Rifle Association Postal matches, and has successfully defeated Vermont Academy and Governor Dummer Academy. The team has also participated in the history making Interscholastic Rifle Match held at Lowell, Massachusetts. All members made appreciable advances in earning National Rifle Association ratings. The expert rating has been awarded by the National Rifle Association and the Army. Carl Behrle holds the Army expert rating, and Chester Darling, the National Rifle Association. Matches are still scheduled with Malden and Beverly.

Girls' Rifle Club

President	Barbara Clark
Vice-president	Virginia Auty
Secretary	Marilyn Pierce
Treasurer	Maxine Plinney
Range Officer	Nancy Dale
Assistant Range Officer	Harriet Mansur

The club, now in its second year, has been progressing exceptionally well. The thirty-two members were divided into groups so that it was possible for each girl to shoot at least every other week. The twenty best shots form the first and second teams, which have participated in four National Rifle Association matches.

Girls' Club

Under the whole-hearted and able leadership of our President, Martha Walters, Girls' Club has completed its 20th season of entertaining and constructive programs. The year was highlighted by several parties, interesting speakers and talent programs, always enjoyed by everyone.

As has been our custom in the past, we aided the needy families at Thanksgiving and Christmas. The Club also contributed to the Community Fund and Y Drive.

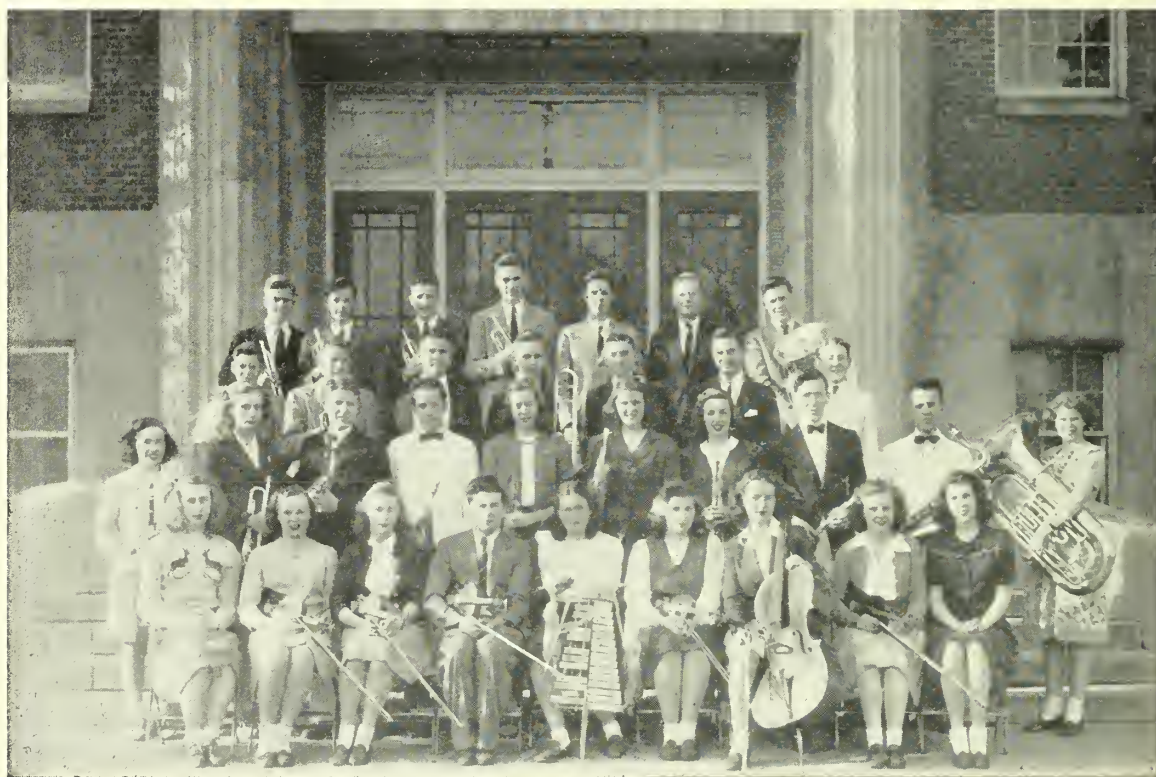

Joint meetings with Hi-Y, skits put on by members of the Club and movies presented by the telephone company and the Infantile Paralysis Drive were also some of the Monday night events in the year's schedule.

Fun, friendliness, and cooperation has marked this as one of the best years of the Club's existence and present a challenge to those who will carry the torch high in the future.

Cheer Leaders

Jean Milton, Barbara Pike, "Pat" McGonagle, "Barb" Eldredge, Lucy Pickett, "Barb" Bishop, "Phyl" Van Wart, "Ginny" Bowman, Marilyn Dutton, Nancy Lavendar, Nancy Nicoll, Sally Sprague, and--last but by no means least--"Bill" McGourty were the thirteen upper classmen who performed the antics of cheerleading at the football games last fall. Under Mac's able leadership, they cheered their team to their many victories.

Brush and Palette

If you have ever wandered into room 314 on a Tuesday afternoon, you probably have seen fellow students carrying out their desires in the field of art or crafts. The Brush & Palette is open to all upper-classmen interested in work in water colors, oils, plastics, shell jewelry, finger-painting, or even surrealism.

Cartoon Club

For several years students have been urging Mr. McPheters to establish a club in the school whose aim would be to foster and develop the talents of those interested in pictorial sketching.

This year such an organization came into being known as the Cartoon Club. Fifteen school students signed the newly drawn up constitution. The meetings were held once a week in room 307 with a special program of sketching -- sometimes from life with different members acting as models.

The feature of the club has been the introduction of the bi-weekly paper named "Chuckles." This was filled with original cartoons and comic strips. Everyone in the club had a part in the production of the paper and received two copies of each issue.

Warren Pitts, who succeeded Harry Habblitz as Editor of "Chuckles", has been very active in the club.

It is felt that the Cartoon Club has had a very happy experience in the first year of its existence.

Football

The 1945 football team fulfilled the Melrose tradition by winning eight games in nine starts. The hard-hitting line and fast-breaking backfield combined with the fiery spirit of the entire squad made the team one of the highest scoring in Melrose High's history.

The standouts in the stalwart line were: Capt. Alden Murphy and Lou Schlaufman as tackles; Victor Wells at guard and Jim White at end. In the speedy backfield Bert Rathburn and Tom Emerson took the highlights.

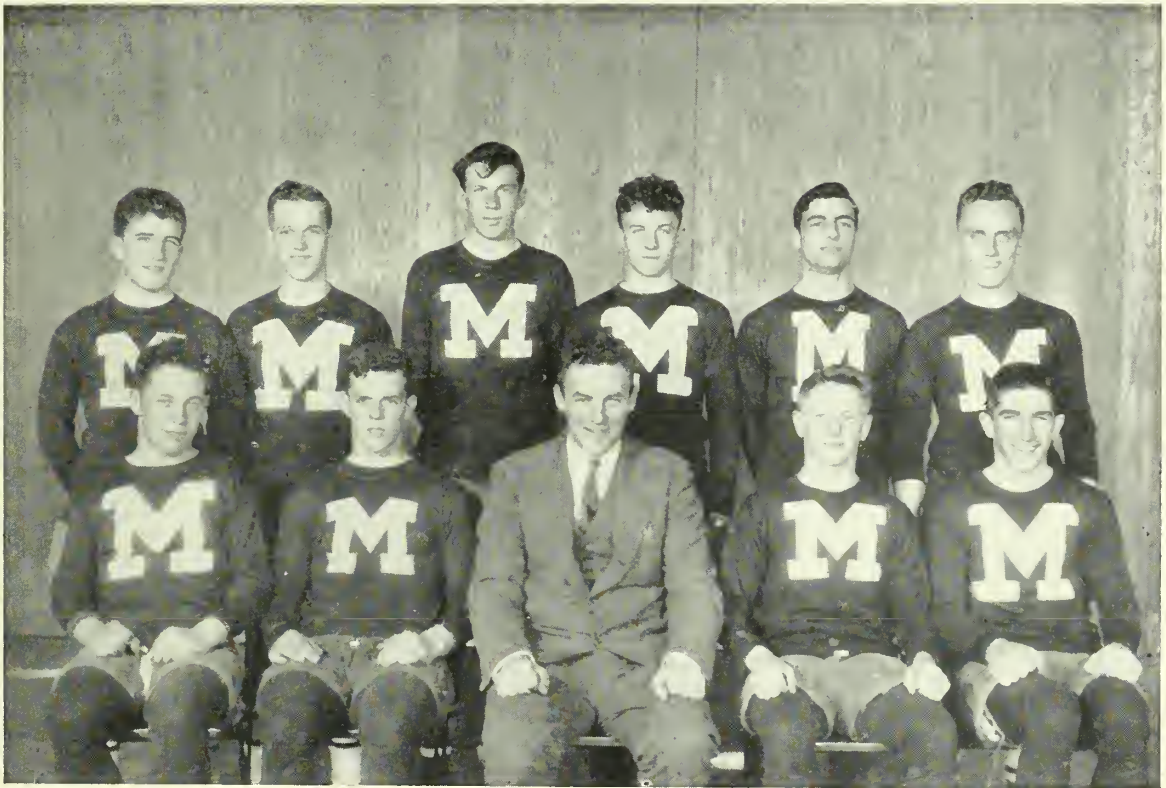

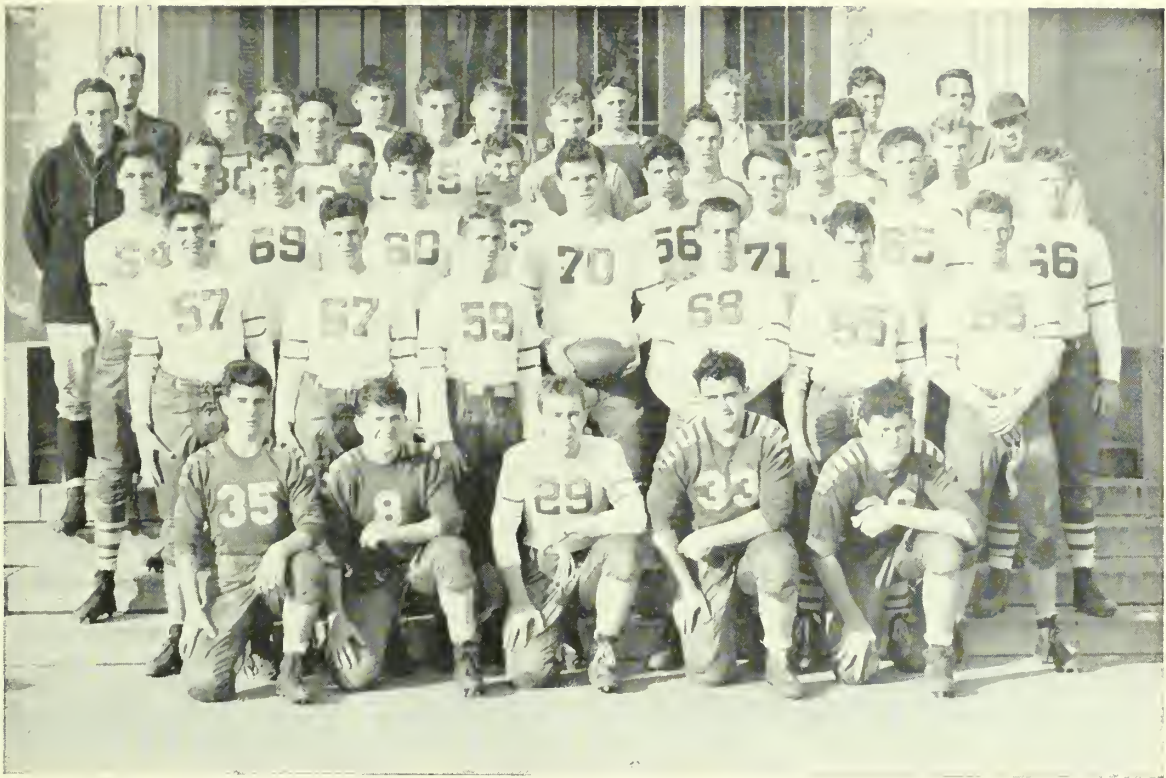

Coach Dave Gavin looks forward to another very successful season next year. With the return of six regulars and an abundance of talent from the second team, this prediction is one that shouldn't go wrong.

Melrose Hockey Team

The league standing would indicate that this year's hockey team had very little ability. This is far from true. On natural ice, Melrose showed up equal to two of the top teams; teams that defeated Melrose on Garden ice. They also defeated a high rating Exeter team.

Close scores in every game but one show that the team put up real stiff resistance for their opponents.

Because of a lowly position this year, Melrose will be more aggressive than ever in their attempt to regain their traditional high standing. The three players; Dick Brown, Garth Scott, and John Grocott, who reached All-Star positions this year, will be back on the job next year.

Cross Country - 1946

Although Coach "Doe" Clark came up with another outstanding squad of runners, the 1946 harriers were unable to continue Melrose's outstanding record of seven state championships in as many years. Edged by Beverly in the State Meet, Melrose nevertheless made a good showing to place second, ahead of many strong teams including Arlington, one of the Raiders traditional rivals.

In the aforementioned State Meet Alan Margeson placed sixth to lead the Red and White runners, followed in eighth place by Carl Marshall, in fifteenth place by Captain Paul Mosier, in seventeenth place by Arnold Pack and in twentieth place by Conrad Lindsey. James Landkamer and Robin White also ran for Melrose, but did not count in the placing.

M. H. S. Basketball Team

Under the tutorage of "Doe" Clark, Melrose High had one of the most successful campaigns for many seasons. Made of championship material, the M. H. S. quintet barely missed a berth in the "Tech" Tournament but went instead on a highly appreciated trip to the "Little School Tournament" held at Mass. State College in Amherst. Co-Captain Ralph Loveys, highest scorer in the Middlesex League, was pursued for scoring honors by Carl Marshall. Allen Mapes' height helped on rebounds, and he collected points when they most counted. The scrapper of the team was "Art" Harris who teamed up at guard with Co-Captain George Hammerstrom, a great defensive player. The reserves were Milt Boyle, Sumner Torrey, Bill Miller, Don Warner, and Bob Merriman.

Baseball

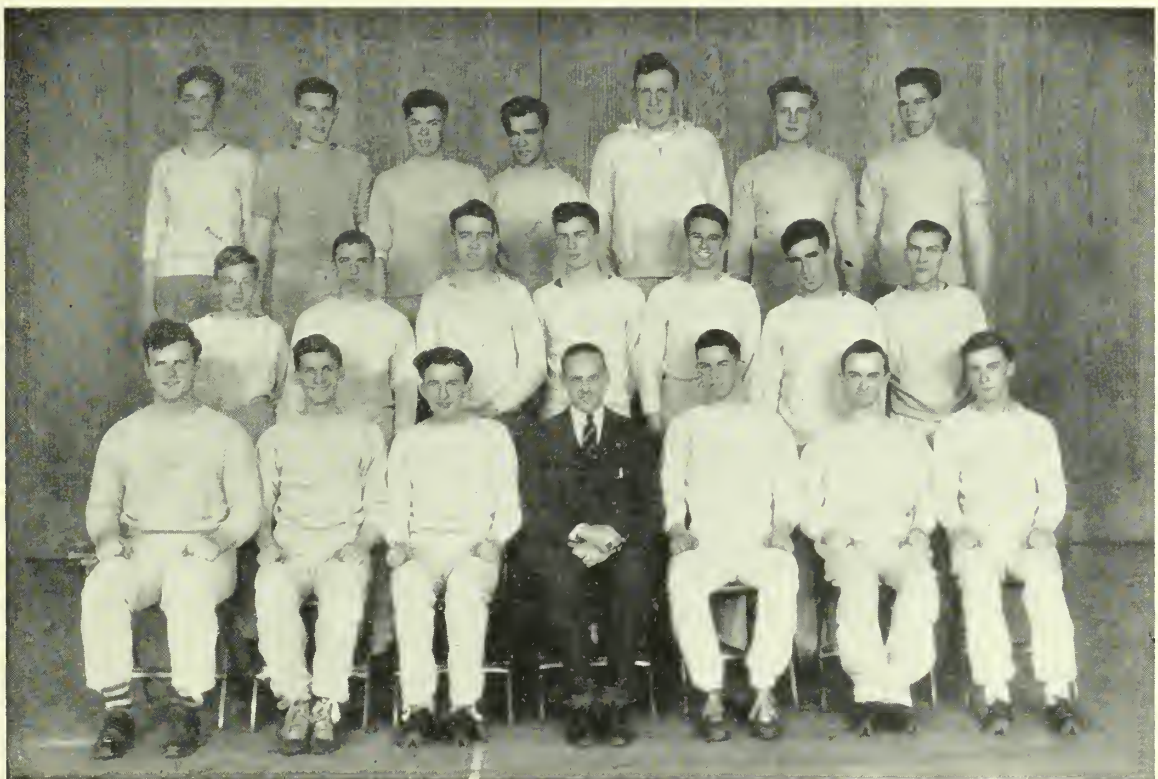

This is the first year of baseball that Melrose has been in the Middlesex League. Melrose has quite a few holdovers from the successful 1945 season. Alan Mapes, who was a number one pitcher last year, is back for another year and is hoping to make a bid as one of the best of the league. "Bill" Miller is back at first base; "Bob" Horne, a sophomore, is looking forward to his second season in the keystone position. "Charlie" Lucas, another hold-over is a shortstop. "Milt" Boyle is capable of holding down the third base job. "Turk" Harlow will be behind the plate; while Ralph Loveys, back for another season, "Nipper" Lloyd, and "Jack" Kelly or "Bill" Denning will complete the team as outfielders.

Good luck to Melrose as she makes her bid in the Middlesex League.

Track

Coach William Florin
Manager Roger Brand

Very little is known of the track team before our book goes to print. However, judging from past years, the team should be successful. Under the coaching of Mr. Florin, the spring squad, made up of many newcomers, should be converted to runners like Ken Charles, Lee Harrington, Alden Murphy, and Alan Margeson. The events of the 1946 Track Team will be held in the dual meets with Wakefield, Winchester, Medford, Chelsea, Beverly, Arlington, and Concord. They will also enter the Eastern Massachusetts State Relay Meet, but not the State Meet.

Girls' Basketball

Coach Mrs. Boatman
Manager Nancy Bissell
Captains Nancy Nespor, Barbara Eldredge

With plenty of pep and enthusiasm, a grand group of girls turned out for basketball this year; but after a few practices, it was narrowed down to two teams with a few substitutions. The girls were unlucky in losing every game of the season, although Mrs. Boatman did the very best she could by the team in Miss Sargent's absence.

Among the opposing teams were Belmont, Lexington, and Winchester. Although the teams were not too successful, they kept their spirits high and whole-heartedly enjoyed the basketball season.

This same group of good sports was found in most of the other athletics, as well as in the gymnasium during the stationary period.

Girls' Field Hockey

Coach Miss Sargent
Manager Nancy Bissell
Captain Nancy Nespor

In the fall, the girls responded vigorously to the call of field hockey - and so it was in this season. Under Miss Sargent's able coaching, the team tied three, won one and lost one game. Some schools played were Lexington, Concord, Winchester, Belmont, and Stoneham.

This year the team had the honor of attending the games sponsored by the Boston Field Hockey Association Umpiring Conference. Four of our girls were chosen for the all-scholastic tournament.

Girls' Tennis

Coach Mrs. Boatman
Manager Polly Page

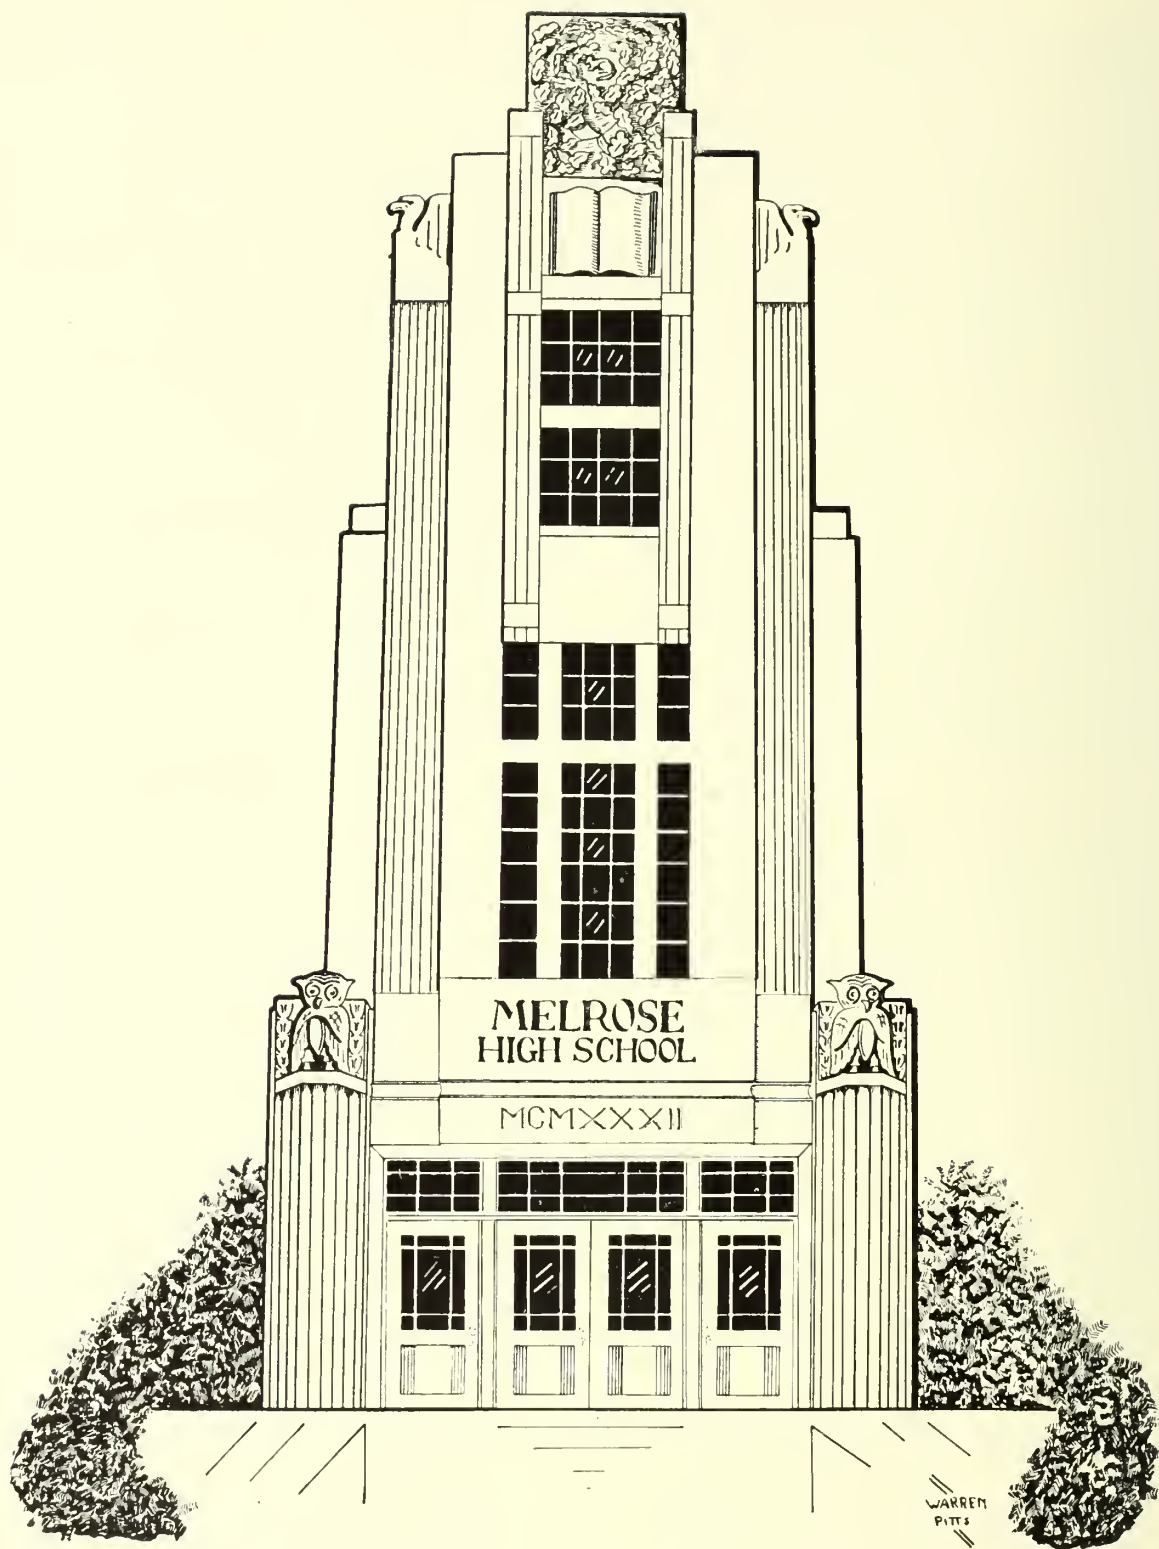

Due to weather conditions these girls have not as yet been able to show their abilities. However, a winning team is certain with Elaine Mitchell, Barbara Eldredge, Nancy Nespor, and Cynthia Jones returning from last year. Fifteen girls have turned out but after the play offs, this number will be cut down so that only three singles and two doubles will be played at each game. Medford, Winchester, Arlington, Malden, Somerville, Reading, Concord, and Lexington will offer keen competition for our girls.

Girls' Baseball

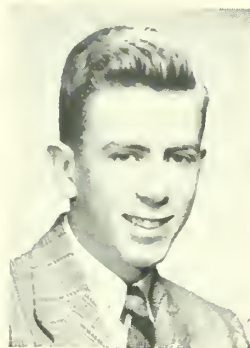

Coach Mrs. Boatman
Manager Nancy Bissell

Melrose pupils are well known for their participation in sports. Girls' softball is not to be overlooked. With about forty contestants turning out this spring, a well balanced team is inevitable. The season looks promising with Corine Kinville, Mariella Langley, Nancy Murray, and Lucy Pickett as representatives of the hard-hitters. The girls are as enthusiastic over baseball as the boys; and with this determination, they are sure to win over Concord, Malden, Arlington, and Winchester - who are listed as the opposition.

Marshal's Address

Parents, Teachers, and Friends:

The Class of 1946 welcomes you to enjoy with us our Class Day Exercises.

During our four years at Melrose High School, many have been called from our classes to enter the service and cannot be here today. May our thoughts turn to them for just a moment. For our learning acquired here, we cannot begin to express our gratitude. As time goes on we will often think back as occasions arise, and we will value anew the guidance of our instructors. We therefore ask your indulgence while we relax today in a spirit of friendliness and good fellowship.

History

James Landkamer

Parents and friends, today I am going to review for you and my classmates the history of our four years at Melrose High School. We have, in those years, not only acquired the knowledge we shall need in our future lives, but we have also had a great deal of fun participating in the school activities. We know that these years have helped to prepare us for the tasks we have yet to face, and we all have a feeling of satisfaction for having made the most of our opportunities during this time.

With Mr. Wilder as the new principal, we began our high school life in September, 1942. We no doubt gave many headaches to the teachers who guided us that year, but we soon realized that we had to take our work seriously. Two organizations were formed in 1942. One, the Student Advisory Council, was organized so as to bring about better cooperation and understanding between the administration and the students. This group is composed of the class officers and two representatives from each class. Our choices that year were Jean Knittel and Irene O'Keefe. The other new group, the War Stamp Council, made it possible for the students to make a great contribution to the war effort through the purchase of War Bonds and Stamps at the school. In athletics, Dave Gavin took complete charge of the football team. Alden Murphy seemed destined for a berth on the squad. Carl Marshall and Allen Mapes were promising candidates for future basketball teams.

After a refreshing vacation, we began our Sophomore year by holding our first class elections of officers. We chose Dirk Romeyn, President; Emily Ann Pollard, Vice-President; Beverlie Benson, Secretary; and Marilyn Moody, Treasurer. Along with these officers we were represented on the Student Council by Alden Murphy and Janet Hutchins. The members of the War Stamp Council from our class were John Mahoney, Beverlie Benson, and Roger Brand.

Looking in on the sports season, we find that Dave Gavin produced another championship football club as Melrose had an undefeated, untied season, finishing second in Class A. Alden Murphy, Tom Emerson, and Bert Rathburn represented our class on the team. Carl Marshall was a member of the cross-country team, coached by "Doc" Clark; and Barb Eldredge earned a position on the girls' basketball squad.

The Masque & Wig Society produced June Mad, a colorful play in which Beverlie Benson, Stella Wright, Jane Knight, and Alan Cuthbertson took part.

In the fall of 1944 we entered our Junior year. Those chosen to lead our class were Alden Murphy, President; Dick Hallahan, Vice-President; Frank Dickinson, Clerk of Records; and Marilyn Moody, Banker. Carol Joyce and Norman Guild were elected to tend to our governmental affairs on the Student Council, and Milton Boyle assisted last year's members of the War Stamp Council in helping the school to attain 90% or better each month in the sale of War Bonds and Stamps.

This year the football team had an even-up season, winning 5 and losing 5. In addition to those members of our class on last year's team, the new players were guard Victor Wells and pass-snatcher Jimmy White. The hockey team placed third in the G. B. I. League, with Jim Gubbins and Ed Lloyd doing their share of the work. Entering the Middlesex League this year, the basketball team, under the expert tutelage of Doc, took third place. Carl Marshall and Al Mapes again represented the Class of '46 on the squad. Carl also helped the cross-country team capture the State Championship for the third consecutive year.

The baseball team had a fair year, but new players filled most of the positions. On this team were Charlie Lucas, Bill Miller, Al Mapes, Milton Boyle, El Lloyd, and Claude Ellis. Not to be outdone by the boys, the girls placed Barb Eldredge on the basketball squad, and Janet Murray, Nancy Nespor, and Nancy Murray played their way on to the field hockey team.

In entertainment, the Masque & Wig presented The Sunshine Twins, in which Alan Cuthbertson, Beverlie Benson, and Jane Knight again took part.

Every year the outstanding student in United States History is awarded the Washington-Franklin Medal as a recognition of his achievements. In June, 1945, Carl Marshall received this honor.

Finally we began our last year. Peace had again come to the world, and fortunately our ranks had not felt the effects of the war as those of preceding classes had. We again returned to normalcy.

We elected Tom Emerson President of our class; Jim Gubbins was elected Vice-President; Marilyn Moody, Secretary, her third consecutive year as a class officer. I, somehow, was given charge of the class funds. Bill Woodward and Virginia Esty were our representatives on the Student Advisory Council. Bill has also been the able President of Hi-Y for the past year, and Martha Walters headed the Girls' Club. Last year's members returned to the War Stamp Council this year.

This year Doc's cross-country team took second place in the State meet, led by Paul Mosier, Carl Marshall, Robin White, and Arnold Pack. The basketball team enjoyed one of its most successful seasons, and interest in this sport really came into its own. Art Harris, Sumner Torrey, Milton Boyle, Don Warner, and Bill Miller helped last year's members in gaining third place in the Middlesex League. Although the team was nosed out of a bid for competition in the Tech Tournament, they had a grand week-end at Amherst, Massachusetts, where they played an invitation game with Ludlow High School in the Western Massachusetts Small Schools Basketball Tourney. Melrose won, 40-34.

Captained by Alden Murphy, the football team had another good year, finishing high in Class A. In addition to the spectacular running of Tom Emerson, Bert Rathburn, Jim White, Vic Wells, and Lou Schlaufman all did a fine job on the field.

The girls from the class turned out in strength on the field hockey and basketball team this year. On the field hockey team were Barb Eldredge, Nancy Murray, Nancy Nespor, Elaine Mitchell, Phyllis Shattuck, Barbara Clark, Martha Walters, Phyllis Van Wart, Marilyn Pierce, Emily Ann Pollard, Lucy Pickett, Janet Murray, Marilyn Joy, and Nancy Dale. Those on the basketball squad included Nancy Murray, Barb Eldredge, Polly Page, Nancy Lavendar, Nancy Nespor, Jean Clark, Irene Mackenzie, Phyllis Shattuck, and Martha Walters.

The Middlesex Baseball League welcomed Melrose as a member this season. Al Mapes, Charlie Lucas, Bill Miller, Milt Boyle, Lou Schlaufman, Ed Lloyd, Claude Ellis, and Sumner Torrey made the team.

The Masque & Wig Society produced the play I Had Five Daughters for their annual presentation. Beverlie Benson, Betsey Anne Snow, and Chester Brigham helped to make it a big success. The concert this year culminated the twelfth successful season of the Melrose High School Band, led by Miss Mont. One of the outstanding musicians participating in this event was Carol Joyce. Known for her excellent ability at the piano, Carol's appearances on this stage in the past few years have been thoroughly enjoyed by the faculty and the students.

Don Newcombe, as editor-in-chief of the Log, Bill Woodward as business manager, and Nancy Bissell as art editor have made our Log one of the best. It embodies the school life of our class. To them we extend a word of praise and appreciation. Jim Gubbins was chairman of the group who arranged today's program, ably assisted by Chester Brigham, Marilyn Joy, Gordon Simpson, and Mary Vittoriosa.

This year Beverlie Benson was elected by the faculty and students the Melrose High School representative in the D. A. R. Good Citizenship contest. She received this honor by virtue of her dependability, service, leadership, and patriotism.

It is interesting to note that approximately one-fifth of our class have at some time during their four years been on the High Honor or Honor rolls. Our highest ranking students are Beverly Shaw, Jean Knittel, and Irene

O'Keefe.

We are proud of these many fine students among us, and I am sure we have profited by our association with them in and out of school.

I now believe that I have come to the present. Our four years at Melrose High are now but a memory, a memory which we shall cherish for years to come. We will carry the high ideals instilled in us by our guides, the teachers, wherever we go and into whatever we do. As we lay aside our old books, we must take up new ones, in order that we will be able to meet and to overcome the ever-increasing challenges of this world and to continue to achieve throughout our lives the high standards which we have attained here.

Class Ode of 1946

CAROL JOYCE

1. Arise! And sing together
Our Alma Mater's praise,
Proclaim to all who listen
The glory of her ways.
- CHORUS: Thou beacon to all knowledge
Thou guiding light of Youth,
We'll hold thee dear forever
In constant quest for truth.
For thee we'll hold a banner,
As seeking, on we go;
Clear truth and right and loyalty,
Keep faith aglow!
2. O! Hail to fame or fortune!
Climb high, new goals attain.
Our Alma Mater, fount of wisdom,
Constant will remain.
Repeat CHORUS:

Statistics

Sally Sprague

Good afternoon, parents and friends of the Class of '46. We want you to meet, in our Parade of Stars, the most outstanding members of our illustrious class.

Our most perfect specimen is Mr. or Miss Average Student. He or she towers 5 feet 6½ inches tall; weighs 136 pounds; scuffs along in a 7½ shoe; has lived happily for 17 years; passionately enjoys the sport of football and the recreation of dancing; can often be seen energetically chewing Beechnut gum in Biology lab or sipping Coke at a corner drug store; likes his or her date to have brown hair; is fond of the color blue; and prefers roses to any other odoriferous bloom.

The actual existence of such a perfect specimen is dubious. But Marilyn Moody approaches very near perfection. The Most Fastidious and the Best looking girl of our class. She has a charming personality. Everyone admires Marilyn.

Concerning the future, Donald Newcombe has been voted the Most Likely to Succeed. He also holds the distinction of being Class Genius. Don, Editor-in-Chief of the Log for 1946, is truly worthy of all honors bestowed upon him. We want to wish Don all the luck and success in the world.

Also in the genius category is Irene O'Keefe, our Most Studious member. Irene's high ranks clearly show that she has a genuine capacity for work.

Among the extraordinary personages we find a very unusual fellow, John Riley, our Most and also Least Successful Bluffer. The Class of '46 will go down in history for this unusual phenomenon.

Gordon Simpson can also be ranked as one of the "brains" of the class. Gordon, during his four-year residence at M. H. S., has tossed off many a sprightly witticism to the distraction of his teachers and the delight of his classmates.

Did I hear a giggle just then? If so, it must have issued from the lips of Jean Thivierge, Class Giggler.

And now the time has come when the Most Popular members of our class should be mentioned. Martha Walters, our Most Popular Girl, has done a splendid job as president of Girls' Club during the past nine months; and Tommy Emerson, our Most Popular Boy, has excelled in athletics during his high school career and has done a fine job as president of the senior class.

These two well deserve their respective titles.

Everyone likes a good natured person. Thus Nancy Murray and Louis Schlaufman have gained their popularity. "Always a smile, never a frown", is their motto.

Being the Most Bashful Boy and at the same time the Class Blusher is quite a combination, you will agree. James Gubbins holds this double distinction. I hope no one has to force Jim to stand.

Could there be any connection between being the Most Bashful Girl and the Least Often on Time, Irene McKenzie? Say, Mac, how about a confession,

Don't tell me Evan Phillips and Virginia Esty aren't sitting together! Must have been a "faux-pas"! Evan and Ginny have been practically inseparable for four long years.

The talent of the Class of '46 is noteworthy. The dramatic ability of Beverlie Benson and of Alan Cuthbertson, Class Actress and Actor respectively, is truly remarkable. Now's the time to take your last curtain calls at M. H. S. Bev and Bud.

Our talent is not limited to drama alone, however. Marilyn Dutton, Class Poet, has added many delightful stanzas to the numerous issues of the Imprint.

It is too bad that some of our classmates can't demonstrate their ability for you today. I'm sure the Class Fred Astaire, Danny Sullivan, would love to join Barbie Eldredge in the latest dance-capade.

Of course we mustn't omit the Class Songster, Peggy Grubb. Peggy has delighted many an audience with her beautiful voice.

If exaggeration can be classified as a talent, the time has come to introduce you to Richard Martin. During his four years at M. H. S., Dick invented some of the tallest tales imaginable. Isn't that right, Mr. Poole?

Our Most Athletic members are Bert Rathburn and Barb Eldredge. Bert is a letterman in football and in hockey; and Barb has received many awards in field hockey, in basketball, and in tennis.

Our very talented Class Artist, Warren Pitts, has created many prize-winning posters as well as numerous cartoons in four years. Who knows, he may be another Walt Disney.

Many of us enjoy music, but Carl Behrle dotes strictly on jive and swing. Carl, you see, is the Class Swing Fan.

While Mr. Average Student is plotting a way to annoy his teachers, Marion Ayer is unobtrusively studying her lessons. It's plain to see that Marion is the Class Saint.

Among our comrades of the past four years, we find Nancy Batemen, whose poise and demeanor truly merit her status as Most Dignified.

Will the Van Johnson of the Class of '46 please stand, For those of you who don't know him, it's John Wills, our Best Looking Boy.

But John has a rival for the attention of the ladies. It's Bill Miller. Good looks, a winning personality, and a way with the feminine sex, have won for Bill the title of Class Ladies' Man.

We don't have a Class Man's Lady, but Jane Knight has filled the position of Class Flirt for 1946.

And last but by no means least comes Barbara Bishop. Her prophetic oration will clearly demonstrate that Bish is Miss Originality.

The End of our Parade of Stars has come. When this address is read at our 50th class reunion, I wonder if all these exceptional souls will still be worthy of their respective titles. Oh well,

"Time will tell"
And so, farewell
'Til 1996!

Prophecy

Barbara Bishop

Late in April, after a weekend of attending movies, plays, and modern art exhibits, I dashed to LaGuardia Airport to catch the 4:20 P.M. plane for home. and the last weeks of school. My rush was in vain for just as I reached the ticket window, a voice over the loud speaker announced the cancellation of the 4:20 plane, and the next flight was not until 6:20 P. M. Wearily I meandered over to the literature at the information booth, and was intrigued with the heading "Bored with Life? Take a Tip to Borneo By Plane". Taking the illustrated leaflet to a nearby lounge, I began skimming the pages, which I found very fascinating; and I reveled in the exotic place names, such as Sokolo, Borneo, Hombori, and Bengalia. Under this spell, I determined that someday I should journey to Africa. Apparently I dozed off, for I found myself on just such a trip, and in the strange and scientific world of 1965.

As passengers on the Four-Way Airway, we were enjoying a picturesque trip to the heart of French West Africa. My traveling companion, BETTY JOHN, looked devastating in a spun-glass suit, although I thought the nylon and cellophane hat a little absurd. She was enjoying a novel called "The Maneuvering Mind", by DOROTHY GILES, who I supposed would be at the reunion. A gay get-together of the class of "46" had been planned in Timbuctoo, and many graduates were traveling on the popular Airway, owned by GUILD, REINECK, AND BUNKER. JOHN RILEY, a Hollywood talent scout, making his sixtieth consecutive trip, was interviewing ANN HORGAN, who was flying to her first diplomatic assignment. Much of the conversation on the plane dealt with old classmates, maps of Africa, and places of special interest. MARILYN PIERCE, a very cute stewardess, cheerfully handed out Snap-Easy, that sensational elastic gum made by FRED HOERNLE, and on the wrapper, picturing ELEANOR BALL, giving demonstrations.

While listening to Station URU, and the MYSTIC VALLEY BOYS playing "Melrose City Maisie", we were ordered to fasten our safety belts and prepare to land. On the way to the ground we saw was it a bird? was it a plane? No. it was Allen Mapes, on a microwave, his latest invention. POLLY SIMONDS and LEE POLLARD, both successful traveling business women, descended from our plane with JEAN KNITTEL and MARILYN MOODY, fashion models and housewives. DIRK ROMEYN, noted traveler and explorer, came forward carrying radar surveying equipment. GORDON SIMPSON, the pilot, assisted BEVERLIE BENSON, the artist and actress, down the steps. BERT RATIBURN on his latest invention, an ultra-violet pogo stick, hopped up to meet us, and led the group to a clearing among the palm trees.

There the Chief Magistrate of Timbuctoo extended his greetings through his interpreter, ROGER BRAND, who was to be our guide to the Municipal Borneo Bowl, designed by ROBIN WHITE and built by SUMNER TORREY, where the music of HARPER, CUTHBERTSON, HOUSER, and FREEMAN, Inc., could be heard Monday through Saturday, beating out Jungle Jive.

In single file we tramped along in our new outfits, which had been designed by MARILYN GALLAGHER and photographed in ectoplasm by DAVE RYDER, and JOHN RUSSO. Modeled by JACKIE FULMER and GINNY MORGAN, these garments were the latest thing in JUNGLEWEAR, as shown in the latest issue of Futuristic Findings.

Along the way, MILTON BRENNEN and HERBERT BARBOUR, successful alligator trappers, dashed to the river's edge. RUTH LEMAN and PATRICIA ALDRICH-AMES, big game hunters, laid aside their rifles, and took notes on rare specimens of plant life, while MARILYN CLARK and MARILYN DUTTON, who were poetically impressed by their surroundings, broke into verse. JUNE REED and JEANNE CLARKE were intent on mountain-climbing, and, having forgotten their geography days, were disappointed to find mountains non-existent.

Our group approached a cool clearing about noon. Over a low-thatched roof, a neon sign flashed "Hombori's Hamburgers" JOE REYNOLDS and CHARLIE DRISCOLL, proprietors. Entering the establishment, we found them both asleep in the noonday heat. However, our orders were taken by Big Noise Banyan, and his assistant Little Sound Bracelet. JIMMY LANDKAMER and VIC WELLS, real estate executives considering purchasing the property, rode up on water Buffaloes, and joined us after stopping to chat with CARL BEIRLE, the connoisseur of records, who was at the moment changing the window display. DICK JENNESS, the accountant, wandered from one glass-topped table to another. He helped tune us in on AAA (Algerian Automatic Airwaves) just in time to hear the "Tropical Trio", composed of JANE NICHOLS, JANE KNIGHT, and PEGGY GRUBB.

Once again we started on the long journey. BEVERLY SHAW, Dean of girls at Shadecleft University, along with JANET HUTCHINS, BARBARA CLARK, JANET GOODWIN, AGNES PERKINS, NANCY PIERCE, and BARBARA RENDALL, members of that faculty, gathered research material for a new scientific project. A prominently-displayed sign caught our eyes, and we read - "Coming - Annual Exhibition of the ELDREDGE SCHOOL of Gymnastics, Able Assistants, ELAINE MITCHELL and IRENE MCKENZIE". BETSEY ANNE SNOW, Lecturer, gave a talk on Botany, assisted by her employer, Henry the Horticulturist.....

Overhead a combination Helicopter and Zeppelin, called the Helio-balloon, tooted its horn; and we were greeted by "Karcer Kids, Inc.", RUTH NOEL, MARY VICTOR, MARION ROSS, ALEXANDRIA VETREE, and EVE-

LYN SPERANZA. From the back window, RUTH DOGGETT, BARBARA KENNEDY, and BARBARA KENNEY called our attention to the pilot, BILL WOODWARD, the African representative of the Amalgamated Citrus Growers—Boston and Miami.

Just then, a tired elephant stumbled into view, and DORIS THOMAS and RUTH BULPETT descended with weird tales of Sugarloaf, on the Ivory Coast, where they had taken a wrong turn on the trail.

Reaching the Borneo Bowl at last, we filed into the bamboo-covered bleachers and waited anxiously. Native drums grew louder as ALDEN MURPHY led the Voo-Hoo Grid Iron Eleven onto the field for a spectacular exhibition football game with athletic coaches from far corners of the globe. We cheered loudly for our old classmates, including TOMMY EMERSON, LOUIE SCHLAUFMAN, JIMMY WHITE, DAVID GILSON, DONALD WARNER, and JOHN WILLS. MARTHA WALTERS, President of the Aldenville Athletics and Queen of the Day, assisted CAROL JOYCE in playing "Conga" on a tom-tom piano. Between halves, EVELYN HOFFMAN led a ballet, while JACKIE TRAVALINI acted out "Going Home" on a coast-to-coast hook-up.

NANCY BATEMEN took up a collection for a new physiotherapy ward, in the Hospital at North Conway, where RUTH PUBLICOVER worked as Dietitian, and HELEN DOUGLAS as Head Nurse.

During the last quarter, one of the boys broke his toe; then MILTON BOYLE and CHARLIE LUCAS were called to the scene as doctors. "He's a Man!!! yelled the cheerleaders. The group included GINNY BOWMAN, NANCE LAVENDER and NANCY NICOLL, with a monkey as mascot. At that moment I spotted JIMMY GUBBINS, Manager of the Razor Blades, an All-American Hockey Team, that played opposite PAT McGONAGLE'S Spell-Binders, in exhibition games at Bengalia, in the Belgian Congo.

Taking time out to view the crowd, I was amazed to see NANCY BISSELL a cartoonist, with figure-skating her remunerative avocation. Joining her were LUCY PICKETT, DOROTHY BARBER, and MARIELLA LANGLEY, returning unsuccessfully after a search for butterflies for a local entomologist. NANCY NESPOR and NANCY MURRAY, organizers of "Forest Fire Prevention, Incorporated," were enjoying a well earned rest because "The Rains Came". Others who were glancing about the crowd were ALMA BALDWIN, SHIRLEY HUSSEY, THELMA DAMON, and GRACE HANSON, organizers of a temporary kindergarten called "The Pigmy Primary", for African Offspring.

GINNY ESTY and EVAN PHILLIPS, operating a portable switchboard for all telephone calls, carelessly caused STELLA WRIGHT and BEVERLY WOLFF to be connected with a wrong number and, consequently, a local Ubangi..... Driving along beside the telephone truck, were the HALL TWINS in a mobile First-Aid Station, for travelers suffering from sunstroke.

Our banquet, planned by JANET MURRAY and her assistants, SALLY SPRAGUE and JANET TAYLOR, was held on the spacious and celebrated "Congo Roof", a society spot in Rhergo. JOE TIRRELL introduced the entertainment, which consisted of HELEN MOSS and DORIS HENDERSON doing their interpretation of a native dance, and DOROTHY SAMPSON, playing her own composition, "Jazz Jubilee". After a delicious Hippopotomous Souffle, four veiled lovelies from Sokolo danced and sang "The Dried Bone Fox Trot". I recognized instantly, RUTH McCARTHY, MARILYN SMITH, ARLENE CURRIER, and LOIS PALMER. DAN SULLIVAN and MARILYN JOY were the star entertainers who adagioed in.....

"Umbriago" EUGENE MURPHY, added to the atmosphere by calling loudly the name of each guest who appeared.

ROSARIO SAVARINO was glimpsed as head chef, when in from the kitchen dashed PHYLLIS VAN WART with an exotic dish called Haman-egglio. The troop of waltzing waiters who followed her included RICHARD GRAHAM, ART HARRIS, BILL SWINDELL, THOMAS COMEAU, GEORGE HOLMES, WARREN HILL, ROBERT LATSHAW, JOHN WARD, NORMAN JOHNSON, and CHARLIE LINDQUIST. DAVID WHITNEY ambled through the audience selling Alhambra Headache Pills. JANICE BERRETT and MARY JANE FOGG, as candy girls, assisted DOROTHY CAINES in selling Gorilla Fudge.PHYLLIS ROSS, MABEL POLK, LOIS WENTWORTH, LOUISE ORRALL, SHIRLEY MacHATTON, ELSIE BURNELL, CAROLINE BROWN, EDRIS, ROUSE, CHARLOTTE LORD, BETTY HERD, MARY JANE FRASER, GERALDINE HOAG, DORIS ESKILDSON, LORETTA LaCASSE, DORIS HOAR, and MARION MacARTHUR moved about in dainty mauve-colored aprons and lime-green uniforms. They had volunteered to help the capacity crowd.

Once again we turned to the stage, and this time witnessed the weird demonstration of oriental "push-ups" by DICK MARTIN, a far-eastern contortionist. Next, we heard CAROLYN BEARD'S famous imitations of jungle calls. What we didn't know, was that MARIANNA GALVIN was behind the grass curtain.

MYRTLE McLEAN, under a lavender spotlight, sang popular songs which appealed particularly to a group of widely-known business men. Among this group were JACK GILBERT, DICK TALBOT, FRED HUGHES, ROBERT DICKIE, EDDIE SANTELLA, JOSEPH SAWTELLE, DOUGLAS MacDONALD, PAUL KEEGAN, PHILIP HOWE, GEORGE STEELE, and JOE DOWLING. At another table nearby, sat DONALD NEWCOMBE and ROGER DAMON, noted educators.

In the middle of the last song, CHESTER BRIGHAM, a current hero of the Foreign Legion, came in with the news of an unexpected gold rush. In no time, the huge hall was deserted, and only three of us were left to provide our own entertainment..... After reading WILLIAM MILLER'S biography, and POLLY PAGE'S latest novel, we turned to DONALD FLETCHER'S newest collection of crossword puzzles.....

By noon, at the end of the third day, however, we began to wonder whether any of the others would be on hand to catch the planes back to the States. We pictured our classmates as millionaires, living a life of luxury, with the thousands of dollars in gold they must have discovered. Yet, when JEAN THIVIERGE, HELEN BENNER, JANICE WRIGHT, BILLIE BUNKER, and RUTH WENDLING slowly approached us, we knew that something had happened. Yes, the gold rush had been only an advertising campaign for the Atmospheric Watch Company, owned by ARTHUR BURKE. Small gold-colored discs had been dropped by the thousands in a radius of about ten miles..... When the crowd gathered, they picked up one and read "Your Time is Sky Time"..... So when they finally came to the airport, sadly disillusioned, we left with that old familiar saying in mind, "All that glitters is not Gold" Gold..... gold gold..... FLIGHT 6 TO THE GOLD COAST, Spain, France," blared the loud-speaker, waking me with a start. Immediately followed the call for "Flight 10 to Boston and Bangor. Upon hearing this, I gathered my luggage together, and proceeded onto the field.

Suddenly Van Johnson appeared, with an escort of screaming bobby-soxers; and then I knew only too well, that I was still in the midst of 1946!

TRAVELING SALESWOMAN

"Oh dear, look at all these people! You know, you remind me of something I was supposed to do. Now what was it, Let me think. Don't tell me -- let me guess. It had something to do with free samples, and poetry and -- oh, what was it? Do you have someone here named Myles Standish, or was it John Alden -- anyhow that sort of rings a bell in my mind. Yes, I know you're going to say "What mind?" Everyone does -- Why is that?

I just got this job of a traveling saleswoman yesterday. But my boss doesn't seem very pleased with my work. He says that I stay so long at each house talking with the ladies that my theme song should be "Don't Get Around Much Any More". I ask you - do I talk that much? Yes, I do, don't I?

By the way, how do you like my outfit? The hat is a John Fredericks reject. My suit is quarantined all wool -- a little something I picked up at a Stop and Shop. And I just love black net gloves in the summer. My grandma had these at her graduation in the summer of '96. They stood up remarkably well, I think.

But this isn't getting me anywhere. Maybe if I look in this suitcase I'll get a clue. Let me see, here's a horseshoe. Now who has big feet? And here's a tooth. I'll bet that someone has lost one. What's this? A candle -- oh, now I see the light! This must be for Irene O'Keefe.

Your electric bill must be terrific,
Because you study half the night.
Keep this candle burning,
And let it be your light.

Rosario Savarino (Horseshoes)

Rosie, your feet are gigantic,
They're certainly a prize
I'm giving you these horseshoes,
Try them on for size.

Elbert Rathburn (Tooth)

Where, oh where, has my little tooth gone?
Where, oh where, can it be?
Well, until you finally catch up with it,
You can use this one. See?

Ruth Publicover (Bottle of Ink)

We don't call her Lulu, Lizzie, or Hepsie.
Her name's Ruth,
But we all call her Pepsi.

Here in this bottle is not what you think,
But just that trusty old standby,
Carter's Blue Ink.

Alden Murphy (Rattle)

Because you acted so childishly,
As we saw you day by day,
I'm giving you this rattle,
Here, take it, and go play.

Elaine Mitchell (Ry-Krisp)

Mitch, you always say you're going on a diet.
Of course, we know it isn't true,
But here's a box of Ry-Krisp,
In case you ever do.

Richard Martin (Bull)

Dick, your work's cut out for you in full, ---
Why not go to Mexico and
Show them how to throw the bull?

Dorothy Sampson (Watering Can)

Dottie always has a bunch of flowers
in her hair,
And if she gives them a drink from
this watering can,
They'll never die up there.

Marilyn Joy (Cork Stopper)

Someone once called Mal "Corky"
And "Corky" is now her name.
In the future she'll look at this stopper
And know where to put the blame.

Emily Ann Pollard (Carrot)

Lee, you've got one
really outstanding trait;
You're always and eternally,
munching this rabbit bait.

Joseph Tirrell, Robert Lightbown (Star)

You stuck to your sticks
when the rest all quit.
We watched you from afar,
And because you stayed through thick and thin,
You, both deserve this star.

Alan Mapes (Picture)

In M. H. S. we have a baseball pitcher,
Allen Mapes by name.

For him I have another "pitcher"
But for this he'll need a frame.

Lucy Pickett (Telephone)

Because so many fellows call you for a date,
One telephone will never do,
By special request I've got another,
Just so you can have two.

James Gubbins (Box of Powder)

I know that powder is for ladies,
But what are you going to do?
When a fellow blushes as badly as Jim,
He'll have to use it, too.

John Wills (Candy Kiss)

John is our Hubba Hubba boy,
The Van Johnson of Melrose High.
He sets our hearts a-flutter,
And causes us to sigh.
Let me give you, Johnny dear,
On behalf of every miss,
A sugar-coated, ever-lovin'
Molasses taffy kiss.

David Ryder, John Russo (Bulb)

Everytime we see you
There's a camera before your eyes.
If you take a few pictures with these bulbs,
You're sure to win a prize.

Eddie Santella (Tie)

Your ties and sweaters disagreed,
They screamed at each other loudly,
But anything'll go with this cravat,
So take it and wear it proudly.

Eleanor Ball (Chewing Gum)

Want a piece of chewing gum?
Well, I'll tell you what to do,
Just ask Ellie for it ---
She'll give you a package or two.
But now the tables have turned,
We're giving you this chaser.
No, it isn't Beechnut or Juicy Fruit,
But it is a gum eraser.

William Woodward (Blinders)

Billy, no wonder your dictation
Was falling behind,

What with all those cute commercial gals
Occupying your mind.
These blinders should have been given
To you way back in last October,
And then you would have stuck to books,
A student quiet and sober.

Alan Cutlibertson, Beverly Benson (Statues)

We're looking forward to the time
We'll see you actors at the Met,
But until that premier rolls around,
Here's an Oscar and an Oscarette.

Carol Joyce, Martha Walter, Marilyn Smith
(Ring of Keys)

These gals are really pretty sharp,
When tickling those eighty-eight keys.
In my hand is another kind, --
See what you can do with these.

Nancy Nespor (Car Crank)

Nancy has a bright red coupe,
In which she travels here and there.
Better take this crank, Nancy,
In case the darn thing Breaks down somewhere.

John Riley (Elastic Band)

When it comes to fabricating,
John's in great demand,
Because he can stretch and stretch
a simple fact,
Just like this rubber band.

Patricia McGonagle, Ann Horgan
(Hockey stick and puck)

Pat and Ann are our hockey fans.
It's their favorite sport, they say,
Here's a hockey stick and a puck for them,
Now they can learn how to play.

Jean Thieverge, Jeanne Smith, Shirley McHatton,
Stella Wright (Membership buttons)

Because you giggle at everything,
You've gained much notoriety.
With these pins each one becomes
A member of the "Gigglers' Society".

Barbara Eldredge (Scissors)

Barbie, you're our hep-cat,

Our class jitterbug;
Here's a pair of seissors,
To help you cut that rug.

Margaret Grubb (Throat Spray)

Peggy's voice in song is 'beautiful.
We thrill at each rendition.
If she uses this throat spray
Before each performance,
She'll always be in top-notch condition.

Football Team (Medals)

You boys distinguished yourselves proudly,
You'drove your opponents to distraction.
To each of you goes a medal
For gallantry in action.

Daniel Sullivan (Can of Wax)

Danny rivals Fred Astaire,
Who danced in days of yore.
Take this can of Johnson's wax,--
It'll keep you smooth on any floor.

Barbara Bishop (Hat)

Bish shone at Girls' Club parties
For her originality,
And though I must admit they were funny,
The jokes were always on me.
Now, Bish, I'm getting back at you for making me look silly.
When you're seen in this hat,
You'll look like the Dilly.

Naney Batemen (Lorgnette)

Nancy, 'cause you're most dignified,
I'm giving you this lorgnette.
Use it as you grow older,
And you'll never look upset.

Marilyn Pierce (Can of Shrimp)

Because you're such a little thing
Indeed, a little imp,
This gift is meant to stand for you,
For it's a can of shrimp.

Victor Wells (Hair Restorer)

Vie's had a whiffle for so long,
I doubt that his hair will grow,
But if he uses this hair restorer,
He'll have to tie it back with a bow.

Field Hockey Team (Book of Rules)

Alas, we had a bad season, --
I say it with a tear,--
But take this rule-book and study up.
Better luck next year.

Betsey Anne Snow (Pitch Pipe)

Betsy has one drawback,
She is tone-deaf and cannot croon.
Here's an honest-to-goodness pitchpipe,
To help her keep in tune.

Irene MacKenzie, Frances Bunker, Evelyn Hoffman,
Ruth Bulpett

You redheads are a rarity,
You're very hard to find.
Here's a little peroxide,
In case you ever change your mind.

Charles Driscoll, Joseph Reynolds (Sleeping Pills)

Could be these fellows got their signals mixed,
And turned night into day.
For using their desks as pillows,
They slumbered their courses away.
These sleeping pills should do the trick;
They'll really suit you fine.
That's all I've got to say to you,--
I can't think of another line.

Mary Victor (Apple)

Mary's just a little girl,
In fact they call her infant,
But the way this lassie likes to eat,
It really should be different.
"Gee, I'm hungry, gosh, I'm starved",
It's enough to drive you daffy,
So here's a juicy apple, Mary,
I hope it makes you happy.

Polly Simonds (Glasses)

Polly's bright red glasses,
Are always perched upon her nose.
Here's a pair of a different shade,
When she gets tired of those.

Thomas Comeau (Speller)

Tom, I know your reputation
They say you just can't spell,
But if you study this speller faithfully,

You'll soon do very well.

Marian Ayer (Silver Polish)

We voted you the Class Saint,
Because everything you say, you say low.
In this bottle is some silver polish,
To brighten up your halo.

William Miller (Test tube)

Billy has the formula for getting all the gals.
In this test tube mix the brew,
And sell it to your pals.

Marjorie Alexander, Janis Wright, Shirley Hussy
(Glue)

These are our prespective brides,
From the Class of '46.
I give to you a little glue,
And hope each marriage sticks.

Gordon Simpson (Sharpener)

Gordon has our keenest wit.
He claims there's nothing to it.
Well, in case you have to sharpen it,
Here's something with which to do it.

Lawrence Claflin, David Whitney, (Egg and Hen)

These boys are whizzes at history.
They're forever and always debating.
To listen to them is torture,
To take part is aggravating.

Fellows, I've a little problem for you--
Discuss it now and then--
Which do you think came first,
The Egg or the Hen?

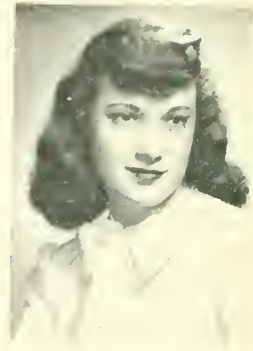

Marilyn Moody (Mirror)

We chose you as the fairest
And the best-dressed of us all.
To help you keep that title,
Hang this mirror on your wall.

Jane Knight (Eyelashes)

Here we have the queen of all the gals who roll their eyes,
At the junior Frankies in their sharp sox and ties.
Janie, here's a gift I hope you'll always carry,
Just blink these lashes once or twice,
And you'll capture every Tom, Dick, and Harry.

Parents and Friends: In behalf of the Class of 1946 I wish to extend a cordial greeting to you who are gathered here this evening to witness our graduation exercise. This is a momentous occasion for all. We are stepping from four fateful years at Melrose High School into a world confronted with great obstacles, and it behooves our spirit to carry on the ideals infused into our minds during our high school career. To aid us in attaining our goal in life, we have the confidence, strength of purpose, and high ideals acquired during our years in Melrose High School. For the knowledge we have gained and the friendships we have made, we are truly grateful.

CAPITAL AND LABOR AT THE CROSSROADS

Four years ago post-war planners were already engaged in proposing and blue-printing programs of labor relations for peacetime use. Now, in the midst of industrial turmoil, little is heard of those model plans. With the close of the most terrible war in all history, the nation faces the same uncertainty that followed the end of the American Revolution. As drought was the scourge of the farmer then, depression is the plague of labor at the present time. The task ahead is a difficult one -- that of reexamining the circle of human affairs and redefining the privileges and duties of the individual, of government, of management, and of labor. As once the American people decided to surrender some sovereign rights to central authority and to retain others, it must now surrender certain economic powers and withhold others. Continued failure to face these problems can lead only to chaos in which the state, to end the unendurable conflict, becomes the master of all.

In the course of events, where men and women are engaged in everyday work in industrial plants, dissatisfaction over wages and working conditions cause rebellion. Those in charge of employment also find themselves dissatisfied with results obtained by these workers.

Ever since the parade of strikes began late last year, propaganda has had top priority in the arsenals of industry and unions. Both sides have been talking -- and advertising -- in a way that bespeaks great faith in the persuasive powers of newsprint and the judicial capacity of the audience. Obviously the war of paid propaganda has been fairly one-sided. Industry commands most of the heavy artillery. But if labor unions do not have the financial means available to management, at least they know how to publicize their underdog plight and make "poverty" a virtue.

Both management and labor are prone to forget, in the heat of such controversy, that they are not isolated groups, but are important members of the United States of America, and that their feverish condition affects the entire body of American citizens. It is ominous to note that, like a creeping paralysis, industries all over the country are closing their doors. Here is a threat indeed to the welfare of America.

The most logical and probable solution to the issue which is pressing the nation at the present time is to resort to compulsory arbitration -- that is, to submit all grievances and labor disputes to a board under governmental auspices. There is no question that both sides, labor and capital, will have to compromise if this problem is to be solved. In order to settle or adjust labor-management grievances, a means must be provided for considering all sides of a question in an effort to establish the truth and correct the cause whenever it is thought that grievances exist. Arbitration boards designed to consider the claims of labor and management would of necessity have to be presided over by men whose characters and reputations are above reproach. In order to qualify as unbiased, their records should be such that they could not be considered either pro-labor or pro-management. The appointments to these positions should be lifted out of the realm of politics. Such a solution through voluntary arbitration is the one most in harmony with our American tradition and way of life.

Let us face the fact, however, that if some of our leaders of labor be not curbed, they may, conceivably, wreck industry, destroy the capitalistic system, and change our form of government. Experience has shown that a complete respect for the rights of both management and labor is fundamental and necessary. Each possesses moral and legal rights which should be religiously safeguarded. The right of management to manage should be respected and protected, and the right of labor to organize into unions of its own choosing should be recognized. Owners and management of industry shall be free to invest, risk, and manage property, and labor shall be free to organize, to act collectively, and speak collectively. This means free industry and free labor.

It is the solemn duty of industrial management to maintain a conciliatory attitude in the settlement and adjustment of industrial disputes which arise from time to time. The avoidance of a superior or dictatorial attitude should characterize the conduct of a successful industrial manager. He, together with the representatives of labor, through the exercise of patience, good judgment, and tolerance must find a solution for these vexing problems. If our freedom is to be preserved, these problems can be solved only through real cooperation, carried forward in a genuine spirit of self-restraint and mutual understanding. There must be a much greater degree of cooperation between capital and labor if we are to secure the benefits resulting from increased production.

A governor of Massachusetts once said: "There exists no right anywhere, any time, to strike against the public welfare". That assertion is generally quoted with approval. Is it valid or invalid? Obviously we have here a threat, not merely to public welfare, but to the very life of the country. Can't these people, capital and labor, see what they are doing? The pressure of public opinion will compel drastic government action. We shall have legislation to enforce arbitration. That kind of legislation will mean that the right to strike will be mitigated or abolished. It will mean that the right of ownership will be curtailed or abolished.

Such an eventuality must not be allowed to occur. Compulsory arbitration is repugnant to the American concept of individual freedom. And yet, if capital and labor continue to flout so flagrantly the public welfare, compulsory arbitration by legislation must be adopted as the means by which our economic system may be preserved. But there is grave danger here that the cure may be worse than the disease, that in seeking to avoid the Scylla of strikes we founder upon the Charybdis of dictatorship. Capital and labor must not be deaf to the demands of aroused public opinion that they reconcile their differences in the cooperative, democratic way, lest in their selfish greed they destroy not only the prosperity which makes America the envy of the world, but also the democratic way of life under which free men have built that prosperity.

Essay

THE AMERICAN YOUTH HOSTELS

F. Irene O'Keefe

There is a greater need in this country now than at any other time in our history for insuring the health and happiness of our youth. The painful realities of war have forced upon us the realization of the necessity for the physical, mental, and spiritual development of the rising generation. The youth of America need something to which they can turn in a desire for self-improvement and healthful relaxation. For them, the American Youth Hostel Association pledges to "help all, especially young people, to a better knowledge, understanding, and love of the world by providing them with youth hostels".

A youth hostel, in the strict sense of the word, is a building or dwelling-place which accomodates people inexpensively overnight. The hostel means much more than that, however, to the thousands of youth hostellers throughout the world. It is the goal at the end of each day of walking or bicycling. It is a taste of home, no matter how brief, to weary hostellers. In many parts of the United States these hostels are found grouped in networks or loops, so that a person may start anywhere and complete the circuit without re-tracing his steps.

Almost any season of the year finds some hostellers on their way. The National Headquarters at Northfield, Massachusetts, plans trips which take from a few days to a month or more.

One of the most interesting of their trips is the one across continental United States. The Youth Hostel Association rents several Pullman cars, which are attached to a transcontinental train. At fifteen or more places along the way these cars are released from the train and left on a side track. The hostellers, equipped with their bicycles which were stored on the cars, then set off for a week's journey to explore a different state, a national park, or places of interest by way of the hostels. When they return to their Pullman cars, another transcontinental train is ready to pick them up and take them a little farther on their way.

Other unusual expeditions which the A. Y. H. sponsors include trips to Mexico, South America, and Canada. The American Youth Hostel Association is already planning to send hostellers to Europe this summer. They will join English hostellers, and, carrying their own food and supplies, will travel through several European countries, helping to rebuild hostels and public buildings.

In our own country thousands annually patronize the more than three hundred hostels. The only requirement is that one be traveling by foot, bicycle, boat, horseback, or skis. No motorists or hitchhikers are admitted. Each hostel is under the supervision of a house mother and father. Hostellers cook their own meals and clean their rooms when they leave.

The idea of hosteling was originated by Robert Shiermann, a European school teacher, in the year 1910. He had taken some of his pupils on weekend trips to the country. The young people enjoyed these trips so much that he decided to extend them. During the summer months he obtained the use of several school buildings, which served as the first youth hostels.

Simplicity is the keynote in hosteling. Living out of doors, the hostellers soon develop a desire for clean, companionable, wholesome living. Hosteling provides youth with an ideal outlet for energy. What we do with our leisure time will determine to no small extent our outlook on life. There are many cases on record of young people who, left with too much leisure, fall into idleness and even crime. There is real merit to the American Youth Hostel claim that "hostels are a splendid weapon with which to combat juvenile delinquency".

Hosteling engenders in youth self-reliance and dependability. It tends to develop character and make well-rounded personalities. Hostellers learn to evaluate properly their experiences in life and to see things as they really are. This type of companionship tends to combat bigotry, conventionalities, and frivolities and give to youth a glimpse of the "basic certainties of life". Hostellers are, for the most part, sincere, unaffected, and friendly. It has been said that "the more one travels, the better citizen he becomes, not only of his own country but of the world."

America needs citizens who are physically well in order to be mentally alert. Hosteling answers a great need, in this country, for the profitable enjoyment of our leisure time.

Because the youth hostel association is international in scope, it also serves the purpose of bringing together the youth of different countries. What better way is there to bring about understanding between people of different nations than through the common enjoyment of travel! Here is certainly one important way of spreading world friendship.

Hosteling is still in its infancy in America, but it will continue to grow and spread as long as there are people who love adventure and who enjoy the beauty of nature. In the words of Leiber H. Weir: "Hosteling provides for every youth who takes the trail the thrill of chasing the mysterious unknown. Not infrequently he will find his own soul".

EDUCATION FOR A BETTER WORLD

Beverly A. Shaw

Youth is the time when the character is being moulded and is receptive to impression. Is it therefore a time to allow our children to be educated in such a way that they will go forth into a complex society with an unsettled outlook and minds incapable of forming sound opinions and ideas? Is it a time to ignore the fact that education, a great instrument of American democracy, can both shape the future and secure the foundations of our free society?

This is the question that recently prompted one of the most significant contributions toward the improvement of education in the United States. It is known as the Report of the Harvard Committee and is the result of three years of investigation by the committee in an attempt to evolve a system of education which will more successfully prepare youth for life in a free society. After a detailed study of the progress of education in the past, the committee was able to develop a plan which will undoubtedly have great influence upon education in the United States for years to come.

As recently as the middle of the last century, high-school education consisted exclusively of college preparatory courses. The curriculum in all secondary institutions was rigid and narrow. A typical, undeviating course included such subjects as advanced mathematics, languages, philosophy, history, rhetoric, and Christian ethics. This limited scope of instruction sufficiently served its purpose in preparing the children of a few well-to-do families for learned professions.

At the turn of the century the increase in population, and the industrialization of the United States brought about drastic changes in American society. In this age of industry and progress, not only more schools were needed, but a new kind of school and college became necessary. A completely different plan of education known as the elective system was inaugurated by President Charles Eliot of Harvard, in order to meet the needs of students of widely varied interests and abilities. This system quickly made its influence felt in secondary education. It allowed a high school student to choose the subjects and courses of study which best prepared him not for college, but for the immediate future. A more functional adaptation of the older plan of instruction included manual training, business training, mechanical and agricultural training, and courses in health and home economics. The diverse instruction of the high school became a reflection of the diversity of our society.

As a result of the adoption of the elective system as our educational plan, there developed in America's high schools and colleges a tendency toward specialization. That is to say, the typical high school and particularly the college student began to focus his interest upon one field of study. He formulated his courses so that they included only subjects which closely pertained to his own special interest. He dangerously narrowed his mental development and general outlook.

The fact that this tendency still prevails in the high schools of the West and in many of the colleges throughout the nation is of definite concern. Educators realize how dangerous it would be if youth, the hope of our democracy, were allowed to continue in this pattern of specialization, to proceed with their highly concentrated training, and to confine their thinking to one particular interest. They foresee a future of fantastic scientific progress uncontrolled and undirected by an awareness of humanity and an appreciation of its needs. It is obvious that the only means of preventing this menace is an attempt to integrate general culture with specialized education. These are the specifications upon which the theory of general education in a free society will build a concrete structure, an efficient, smoothly functioning system of education.

What then is this theory which will solve the problem of education? It is simply that there shall be equal emphasis upon cultural training and specialized education. There shall be definite attention given to that part of education which makes a responsible human being and citizen of the student. There shall not be a neglect of the training which fits him for those common spheres that are his heritage as an heir of a traditional culture. At the same time the student shall be allowed to progress with the remaining part of his education which establishes his competence in some occupation or in some particular function in life.

The heart of this whole problem of general education is the continuance of the liberal and humane tradition. Neither the mere acquisition of information nor the development of special skills and talents can give the broad basis of understanding which is essential if our citizenship is to be preserved. No one wishes to disparage the importance of being "well informed". But even a good grounding in mathematics and the physical and biological sciences, combined with an ability to read and write several foreign languages does not provide a sufficient educational background for citizens of a free nation. For such a program lacks contact both with man's emotional experience as a gregarious animal. It includes little of what was once called "the wisdom of the ages", and today is known as "our cultural pattern". It includes no history, no art, no literature, no philosophy. Unless the educational process contains at each level of maturity some continuing connection with the fields in which value judgments are of prime importance, it fails to fulfill its purpose. The student in high school and in college must be concerned, in part at least, with the words "right" and "wrong" in both the ethical and mathematical sense. Unless he feels the import of those general ideas and aspirations which have been a deep moving force in the lives of men he runs the risk of seeing life through a distorting lens.

Specifically, the means of infusing into youth an appreciation of their racial heritage and their responsibility toward society is a thorough study of the humanities, including English literature, the fine arts, social studies, history, mathematics and science.

The study of the humanities is a study of the knowledge of the past. Such a study fulfills the aim of general education, in that it acquaints the student with the emotional and social nature of man. By sharing in the emotional and social experiences of man through the ages, the student comes to understand himself and his relation to the world in which he lives more clearly. From a study of the humanities the student gains insight into the ways in which he can triumph over adversity, solve life's problems and help to avoid the common pitfalls of society. A study of the past shows the effect of scientific progress upon the individual and upon the world. An awareness of the past will guide his efforts in the future and prevent him from using his own powers and the forces in nature to bring about situations dangerous to society.

The question, therefore, which general education attempts to answer is not whether we shall have more and greater atomic bombs, but whether we can reconstruct society so that atomic bombs need not be used. We have had our fill of specialization. What we need now is wisdom to chart the future by taking our bearings from the past.

Classmates:

Our graduation this evening marks the end of four memorable years at Melrose High School, years which have well prepared us for our chosen tasks. We shall ever treasure the firm friendships we have made, and the enriching experiences we have shared.

From our first momentous day at Melrose High as freshmen, we have been surrounded by every advantage of scholastic and moral achievement. We have been guided along the paths of knowledge by teachers whose only concern has been for our welfare and advancement. For all the valuable training and instruction the past four years have brought us, we are truly grateful.

Let us be equally grateful that we are the first graduating class in five years which will be free from the call of military service and from wartime restrictions. Let us appreciate and use wisely the privilege of planning our own futures, which peace has restored to us.

As we go forth into today's world of unlimited opportunity, we shall try to live up to the standards we have attained here, and always be of credit to Melrose High School. The best of luck to each of you, and farewell!

THE NC-2-40C

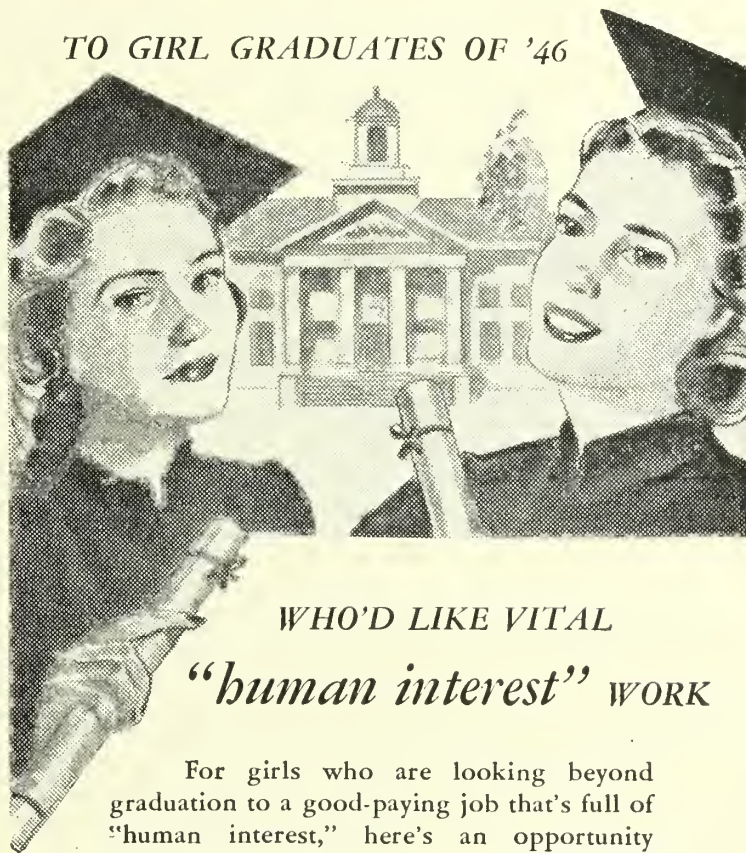

This superb new receiver reflects National's intensive receiver research during the war period. Many of the NC-2-40C's basic design features stem from the NC-200, but to them have been added circuit and construction details that set it apart as a performer. Stability and sensitivity are outstanding. A wide range crystal filter gives optimum selectivity under all conditions. The series-valve noise limiter, the AVC, beat oscillator, tone control and S-meter are among the many auxiliary circuits that contribute toward the all-around excellence of the NC-2-40C. See it at your dealer's.

WHO'D LIKE VITAL
"human interest" WORK

For girls who are looking beyond graduation to a good-paying job that's full of "human interest," here's an opportunity worth investigating.

The Telephone Company has several openings for girls finishing high school. Recent high school graduates who've become telephone girls find the work interesting; associates friendly; surroundings pleasant.

Seniors should look into this opportunity. Training courses may be arranged so as not to interfere with studies or graduation, and can usually be given right in the home town. Sign up right away and receive pay while learning.

Your teacher or vocational advisor can tell you more about work in this interesting industry.
